British Thrust Southward From Caumont-Bayeux

ST. SAUVEUR LE VICOMTE (AP)—Hard-driving U.S. troops today broke through tough German resistance, crossed the river Douve and reached St. Sauveur le Vicomte, commanding the main road net on the central Cherbourg peninsula.

The advance was swift across the green countryside ripped by shrapnel and machine gun bullets and strewn with bodies of Germans killed in the woods and hedgerows vainly trying to halt the Americans.

Maintaining terrific pressure on the Nazis, the U.S. troops finally burst through final defences and entered the town at noon.

The town was shattered and virtually destroyed by the weight of U.S. artillery fire and the bitter fighting that had swirled around and through it. The Germans had made it a strongpoint since it is astride a main road running south from Valognes, the main highway out of Cherbourg.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE (CP) — British forces thrusting south from Caumont, 14 miles south of Bayeux, encountered German troops in force two miles south of the village, headquarters announced today.

Headquarters said late in the day that tank battles still raged around Tilly-sur-Seulles, east of Caumont, and the city of Caen, farther east on the Orne River.

Meanwhile, Gen. Eisenhower, Supreme Allied Commander, and Air Chief Marshal Tedder, Deputy Supreme Commander, visited Gen. Montgomery, commander of the ground forces in the Normandy invasion, on the "eastern sectors of the beachhead," Supreme Headquarters announced today.

U.S. troops attacking west of Carentan have advanced 2½ to three miles toward the west coast of the Cherbourg peninsula, the Allied command announced.

Another U.S. column drove to within 2½ miles east of the road junction of St. Sauveur.

The weather was worse than any since D-Day, with a strong wind of more than 20 miles an hour blowing from the northwest on the beaches.

Purchasing Board To Be First Policy Enactment By C.C.F.

REGINA (CP) — Appointment of a provincial purchasing board to purchase supplies required by the government was forecast today as one of the first actions of the C.C.F. administration elected Thursday in Saskatchewan.

During the election campaign Premier-Elect T. C. Douglas said his party believed large sums could be saved by such a board. The C.C.F. thought the Saskatchewan government profit on liquor sales could be increased. While Alberta sold liquor at the same price, profits were higher in that province.

Mr. Douglas said revenues which properly belonged to Saskatchewan through the development of resources by private companies now went outside the province. C.C.F. policies suggested adjustments to see that revenue from such sources was kept at home to a greater degree.

STATE HEALTH PLAN

After citing the social security program carried out by a labor government in New Zealand, Mr. Douglas said Saskatchewan required state medicine. Young men and women would be trained in health services at the University of Saskatchewan, and grants would be made to municipalities for building hospitals and employing doctors.

4 Important Towns Taken As Allies Advance Up Italy

ROME (AP) — The sweeping Allied advance up the Italian peninsula continues, and the 5th and 8th Armies have taken at least four important towns, it was announced today.

Biggest of the seized towns is Terni, 45 miles north of Rome on highway No. 3, which fell to 8th Army forces. Also occupied were Todi, 19 airline miles northwest of Terni, Narni, seven miles southwest of Terni, and Aquapendente, seven miles north of Lake Bolsena's northern shore.

Organized enemy resistance has collapsed, and it appeared the Germans would not make a stand until the Pisa-Rimini line was reached.

The Allied communique said the rapid advance continued "all along the front." In the Adriatic sector it said the Germans have withdrawn and "only slender contact has been maintained."

Eighth Army troops also have advanced 10 miles north of the big town of Orvieto, Gen. Alexander's headquarters announced.

Among the smaller places mopped up in the swift thrust northwestward across Italy was the village of Massa Martana, 16 miles north of Terni.

Order to Free Wilby Upheld

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Court of Appeal today dismissed an appeal of the State of New York from a judgment of Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane freeing Ralph M. Wilby from an order from the Minister of Justice for his surrender to New York police on charges of stealing $275,981 from William T. Knott & Co. of New York.

In the meantime, Wilby is held in the Victoria city jail under the original commitment for extradition of Judge Shandley.

An application will be made to Mr. Justice Coady Monday on behalf of Wilby for a writ of habeas corpus for his discharge from custody.

Gordon S. Wismer and W. H. M. Haldane, defence counsel, contend there is no proper authority for holding Wilby in jail.

The order of the Minister of Justice was held to be invalid for the reason that it was signed before the 15-day period elapsed during which Wilby had the right to apply for a writ of habeas corpus.

Soviets Punch Hole In New Mannerheim Line Before Viipuri

MOSCOW (AP) — Russian forces have smashed their way through Finland's "New Mannerheim Line," one of the last barriers on the way to the important seaport of Viipuri, it was reported today.

A Red Star dispatch said the New Mannerheim Line was a tremendous fortification, with four lines of walls made of con-shaped stone and anti-tank blocks almost two yards high, before which lay an anti-tank mine field 20 yards wide and strewn with German mines.

A great gap has been cut in this line, and in some places Soviet tanks and artillery, as well as infantry, are considerably beyond it, the dispatch said.

SEEN BY REPORTER

Maj. Konstantin Shvankov, Red Star correspondent and the first newsman to go through the new line, said that behind the tank blocks the Finns had built an elaborate system of trenches and dugouts, with steel and concrete platforms for anti-tank rifles, machineguns and mortars.

The trenches are connected with bullet and bombproof shelters about 50 yards away. These had steel and concrete covering on the sides, with room inside for 15 soldiers.

The main break-through was in the region of Kuuterselkae, with the New Mannerheim Line running from the southwest to the northeast, deep in swamps and forests.

Banks' Reserves To Be Kept Secret, Committee Rules

OTTAWA (CP) — By a vote of 18 to 4, the Commons banking and commerce committee today rejected a motion calling for disclosure of the inner reserves of the chartered banks of Canada.

The vote climaxed weeks of debate on the proposal, sponsored by Arthur Slaght, L., Parry Sound, Ont., and G. G. McGeer, L., Vancouver-Burrard, and voted for by Blackmore, Social Credit leader, and E. E. Perley, P.C., Qu'Appelle, Sask.

Norman Jaques, S.C., Wetaskiwin, and J. W. Noseworthy, C.C.F., South York, Ont., announced they would have voted for the motion, but they were paired, respectively, with Hughes Cleaver, L., Halton, Ont., and T. McNevin, L., Victoria, Ont.

For the Boys Over There

From PO. Gray of William Head, father of a young Canadian "over there," there today came a cheque for the Scottish Comforts Fund, with this note:

"As my son, Capt. R. S. Gray, is, I am sure, somewhere in France, pulling his weight with the boys, I am only too happy to make this small contribution towards the fund."

From two of the boys themselves over there, there today came to the Women's Auxiliary two letters:

Sgt. S. Hill writes: "I have just had the pleasure of issuing your cigarettes to a very appreciative bunch of boys. It is a great event, and means a lot to us. Keep up the good work. This lot came at a very appropriate time."

L.Cpl. R. J. Duncan writes: "Thank you very much for your kind remembrance of us over here. I was my pleasurable duty to issue the cigarettes to the men in my company. You will never know just how useful a cigarette can become. Thanks again."

There was also a letter from Pte. W. A. Brocklebank, in which he wrote: "I received a parcel from you through the padre, and a few more of my friends have received them. I think if you could see them and the smiles on their faces when they receive a parcel, you women who are sending stuff over would be well repaid."

Money is needed to keep up the supply of comforts to the boys of Victoria's own battalion who are now in the invasion battle in France.

Today's subscriptions to the Scottish Comforts Fund are:

Princess Chikhmatoff	$10.00
Mrs. J. W. Benning	25.00
PO. Gray	5.00

Subscriptions should be addressed to Kay McIntyre, Times editorial, who is acting as secretary-treasurer.

'Secret' Weapon Raids Continue Throughout Day

LONDON (CP) — An official announcement tonight said "enemy activity with pilotless planes has been continued intermittently throughout the day, although on a smaller scale than Thursday night. Incidents have occurred at several places in southern England and damage and casualties have been reported."

The flame-spitting, pilotless planes drove over southern England Thursday night in the German's first "secret weapon" reaction to the invasion of France.

These craft, exploding on the ground or close to it, caused deaths and considerable damage at scattered points and sent anti-aircraft guns barking extensively in daylight for the first time since the early blitz days of 1940.

Descriptions of the weapon varied considerably, but all agreed these self-destroying aircraft flew at terrific speed in a straight line, were marked by bright lights, and shot flames from their exhausts suggesting they might be jet or rocket-propelled.

Assume Radio Control From Other Planes

The lights presumably were to aid in radio control, probably from piloted planes at a great distance.

The German communique said only that southern England and the Greater London area were attacked with novel weapons and "super heavy" explosives were dropped.

A special note broadcast after the communique of the high command said: "There is hardly one German who will not receive this news with greatest satisfaction. The feelings of hatred and a burning wish for retaliation which dominate the German people have been kindled by our enemies in their terror crimes."

The Ministry of Home Security ordered civilians to stay away from the pilotless aircraft, which exploded five to 15 seconds after landing.

Look Like Spitfires On Smaller Scale

One correspondent telephones this word picture of the pilotless craft:

"The planes have a distinctive, rhythmic note, giving the effect of a pulsating, low throb. They are much smaller than a Spitfire, but their appearance is much the same.

"They really are midget planes. At night they show a distinct yellow glow at the rear and in the light of searchlights streams of thick smoke can be seen being ejected from them.

"Many of them have been observed in daylight and on several occasions R.A.F. fighters, with total disregard of danger, have dived into the ack-ack fire around them in attempts to make a kill."

As the day wore on, alerts and all clears alternated over southern England and guns cracked intermittently, but business went on without interruption.

Home Secretary Herbert Morrison told the House of Commons today that these radio-controlled planes were first used Tuesday night and came over again Thursday night and today.

Mr. Morrison referred to the pilotless planes as "missiles," indicating they were designed to crash against their objectives rather than to drop bombs.

Saskatchewan Voters Landslide C.C.F. Into Power

Win 43 of 52 Seats, Lead In 2 Others
4 Liberals Elected; Conservatives Out

REGINA (CP) — The first C.C.F. government in history boomed into power on a landslide vote in Saskatchewan Thursday, under the leadership of Thomas Clement Douglas, 40-year-old former Baptist minister who resigned a seat in Parliament for what turned out to be the premiership of this prairie province.

The vote left no more than a corporal's guard of the Liberal administration headed since 1935 by Premier W. J. Patterson. This morning 43 C.C.F. members and four Liberals had been conceded election. C.C.F. candidates led in two of the four doubtful seats and Liberal candidates in the others. The 52nd seat—Cumberland—will be decided June 14 the one-sided verdict of Saskatchewan voters was accomplished by the C.C.F. with only slightly more than half the total ballots cast.

The election trend was unmistakable from the early returns which showed Mr. Douglas' followers piling up sizeable margins over the Liberals, and over the Progressive Conservative and various Independent candidates who failed to return a single member.

Soon, as concessions began to come in, the overwhelming proportions of the C.C.F. victory were apparent.

Premier Patterson was not certain of his Cannington seat. He had a plurality over C.C.F. and Progressive Conservative candidates but his margin was so small that—as in a few other close contests—the votes cast by Saskatchewan servicemen and servicewomen serving in their home province may be enough to swing the tide against him. These votes will be counted June 19.

5 Cabinet Ministers Go Down to Defeat

Seven of Mr. Patterson's cabinet ministers sought re-election. Five were defeated. Highways Minister Proctor was re-elected in Moosomin and Maj. E. M. Culliton, Minister without Portfolio, was running second to a C.C.F. candidate in Gravelbourg but may possibly win out on the basis of the soldier vote.

The extent of the C.C.F. victory is indicated by the legislative standing at dissolution: Liberals 33, C.C.F. 10, Social Credit 2, Unity (National Reform) 2, vacant 5. At the 1938 election the Liberals elected 38, the C.C.F. 10, Social Credit two and Unity two.

At 3 a.m., E.D.T. today—with 2,769 of 3,140 polls reported—a compilation by the Canadian Press showed the C.C.F. had obtained 192,491 of 366,023 votes cast, or about 52 per cent. The Liberals had 129,524, Progressive Conservatives 41,983, and various other candidates 2,525.

In the last election in 1938 the total vote was 440,273, with the Liberals receiving 200,370, the C.C.F. 82,568, the Conservatives 52,366, and others 104,969.

Thursday's victory was paralleled in Saskatchewan only by the Liberal sweep of 1934 when they elected 50 members to the Legislature which then had 55 seats instead of the present 52.

The Legislative seats again will be raised to 55 when Saskatchewan servicemen and servicewomen serving outside the province elect three members-at-large later. The arrangement for this balloting have not been completed. One service member will be elected for Canada outside Saskatchewan and Newfoundland; one for the United Kingdom including the invasion forces in France; and one for service personnel in the Mediterranean theatre.

These three members will sit for one term, following a precedent established in the First Great War when three members were elected similarly.

38 P. Conservatives Lose All Ridings

Rupert D. Ramsay, Progressive Conservative provincial leader, suffered personal defeat Thursday in Saskatoon City and not one of the other 38 Progressive Conservative candidates so much as led a riding during the counting of the ballots.

The Liberals had 50 candidates, the C.C.F. 51, and there were 10 others of various political hue, for a total of 150.

Mr. Douglas, who has been a bright star in the C.C.F. firmament since he entered the political field in 1934, termed the victory of his party "a victory for the people of Saskatchewan as a whole."

"The election victory," he said in a post-election statement, "was the result of team work and co-operation on the part of thousands of workers and I want to thank them for their hard work. The same co-operation will be necessary to attack the economic and social problems that will face us as a government."

Fresh from the federal political arena at Ottawa, Mr. Douglas said the election result was an indication of western Canada's feeling in respect to federal agriculture, manpower and postwar reconstruction policies.

Mr. Ramsay, the Progressive Conservative leader, said that with election of a C.C.F. government Saskatchewan starts "a new chapter in its history."

"Great problems lie ahead and we must face them as a people without allowing constantly-present factors of disunity to deter us from building a United Canada," he added.

Premier-Elect Born in Scotland

Mr. Douglas, the new premier, was born in Scotland, but came to Canada 34 years ago at the age of six. He has gathered experience the hard way, sometimes earning his living and his education by manual labor. He is an ble debater and has a sharp wit which he uses as necessary in his clashes with political opponents.

He was elected C.C.F. provincial leader at a convention last year. When the election was called he turned in his resignation as a member of the House of Commons to lead his party on the hustings.

Thursday night he said he is prepared to take over the administration as soon as Mr. Patterson leaves his office.

Mayor J. W. Corman of Moose Jaw is expected to be recommended for the post of Attorney-General, as the only lawyer elected by the C.O.F. J. H. Sturdy of Saskatoon, is a prospective minister of education or social services. Mayor C. C. Williams of Regina may be given the ministry of labor, and Maj. George Williams, former C.C.F. provincial leader, may be minister without portfolio.

Other prospects for cabinet posts are J. H. Brocklebank, leader of the opposition in the last Legislature; J. L. Phelps, member for Saltcoats, and Alderman C. M. Fines, president of the provincial C.C.F. organization.

It was estimated that more than 40 candidates lost their deposits, the majority of them Progressive Conservatives.

Mrs. B. Trew, one of the two candidates, won in Maple Creek constituency where she defeated Capt. J. J. Mildenberger, the sitting Liberal member.

When the count was completed at Cannington, Mrs. Gladys Strum, Windthorst housewife, had 30 votes less than Mr. Patterson, having given the retiring premier a close race throughout the count.

During the campaign it was estimated that women represented 52 per cent of the voters. Spokesmen for all the major parties noted the importance of their social security, educational and other proposals to the women of Saskatchewan.

Maj. Williams was re-elected in Wadena, where the Liberals did not enter a candidate. He has returned from service overseas and his health has been indifferent in recent months.

Mr. Patterson heard the election results in his home constituency and was expected to be in Regina, the provincial capital, today. When he became premier in 1935 he succeeded Hon. J. G. Gardiner, who became federal minister of agriculture.

The one Social Credit candidate in Thursday's election, Frank E. Talbot of Moose Jaw, was defeated. In the 1938 election, Social Crediters polled 69,720 votes.

Tax Investigation

OTTAWA (CP)—The revenue department said in a return in the Commons Thursday for M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, that it was investigating reports of tax evasion by the Bayer Co. of Canada.

Mr. Coldwell, speaking in the Commons March 28, quoted from a report of a United States Senate subcommittee to the effect that a share of the Bayer profits was to be paid to the I. G. Farben Co. as a royalty.

Ottawa Expected Election Turnover

OTTAWA (CP)—The success of the C.C.F. in Saskatchewan caused no great surprise in political circles in the capital.

Members of Dominion political parties generally were prepared for a turnover in government. A few Saskatchewan members of Parliament who took part in the campaign, returned to Ottawa Thursday with fairly accurate predictions.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier Stuart S. Garson of Manitoba, commenting on the C.C.F. victory in the Saskatchewan general election, expressed confidence the new government will continue the congenial and neighborly relations which have prevailed between the two provinces.

REGINA (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. national leader, said: "The result of the Saskatchewan election exceeded all my expectations. It is a people's victory in the truest sense.

"Our workers throughout the contituencies were volunteers. This made up for any lack of money we may have felt. We believe this is a prelude to a victory in the federal field, where alone the great national problems must be dealt with. Our success today rests on a firm basis of political and economic education.

"We look forward to the future with confidence."

Nazi Ships Allowed Through Dardanelles

ANKARA (AP) — Numan Menemencioglu, Turkey's Foreign Minister for the last two years, resigned Thursday in a dispute involving passage of German ships through the Dardanelles, and Premier Sukru Saracoglu, taking over the job, declared in the future no armed vessels would be permitted to pass through the straits.

Menemencioglu's resignation followed a British protest over passage of German armed vessels between the Black and Aegean Seas, and a meeting of the cabinet which, according to an official announcement, "disapproved of the policy of the Foreign Minister during the last few days."

Summoning foreign press representatives, Saracoglu told them the "might and right" of Turkey would not "be used against her ally, Great Britain, and her friends, Russia and the United States.

Election Brings New Responsibilities

VANCOUVER (CP) — Commenting on the result of the Saskatchewan election, F. J. McKenzie, C.C.F., provincial secretary in British Columbia, said:

"The formation of a C.C.F government in Saskatchewan will place a special burden and responsibility not only upon the members of the cabinet and its supporters in the Legislature, but also upon the members of the Saskatchewan section of the party," he said in a statement.

"The achievements which will be accomplished by the people of Saskatchewan through their C.C.F. government will have the effect of arousing in the people of British Columbia a greater confidence in their own ability to improve conditions in this province through the C.C.F."

On the expiration of furlough, the class will go to the Canadian Army Trade School at Hamilton, Ont., for further training.

In addition to the graduating class in automotive work, young soldiers are taking courses at the Topaz camp in electrical and machinist trades. All are active service soldiers, enlisted between the ages of 17 and 18, after completing at least grade 8 schooling. They complete a three months' orientations course and are then allocated to 10 months special courses at other centres in Canada.

Lt.-Col. F. Fairey and Capt. W. G. Black, war emergency training representatives; Capt. Ray Grant, officer commanding at Topaz camp, and Maj. R. R. MacNaughton, officer commanding No. 11 V.H.S., Vancouver, addressed the men at the graduation dinner.

Allied Communique 21

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE (CP)—Communique No. 21:

There has been no major change in any sector, but Allied troops have made further progress west of Pont l'Abbe.

All attempts by the enemy to gain the initiative have been frustrated, and counterattacks have been successfully repelled.

Our striking power grows steadily. Despite rain and limited visibility over many parts of France yesterday, Allied air forces flew 3,000 sorties, many of them by aircraft based in France, attacking targets indicated by advanced air force and army headquarters. In the afternoon medium bombers hit fuel and supply dumps, bridges and other communications targets from Valognes in the Cherbourg peninsula to Laval and Donfront, about 75 miles behind enemy lines. One medium bomber is missing.

Fighter-bombers, fighters and rocket-firing fighters were active throughout the day. Their objectives included railway yards at Le Mans, Fourgere, Mayenne, Vire, Granville, Folligny, Hyenville, Chartres and Coltainville, and bridges over the Orne, near Amate. East of Caen fighter-bombers attacked enemy troops and tanks sheltering in woods and orchards. Others bombed Seine River ferries, observation posts, radio stations, artillery concentrations and several bridges and railway lines near St. Lo.

In these activities 14 enemy aircraft were destroyed for the loss of seven of ours.

Last night our heavy bombers in great strength attacked concentrations of E and R-boats and minesweepers in Boulogne harbor, as well as railway centres at Valenciennes and Lens, and fuel dumps at Chatellerault and Fouillard. Fourteen bombers are missing.

Four enemy aircraft were destroyed and others damaged over France by our night Intruders.

12 Japanese Planes Flee From Superfortress

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the major questions about the B-29 Superfortress—could it protect itself—was answered satisfactorily by an unanticipated encounter with a dozen Japanese planes over Burma many weeks before its first big raid on Japan, announced Thursday.

The giant bomber is believed to have shot down two of the attacking fighters before the enemy turned away. The B.29 received a few bullet holes and one gunner was wounded slightly.

Chas. E. Wilson, Born in Victoria, Dies at 65-Years

LATE C. E. WILSON

Charles Eilbeck Wilson, 65, native of Victoria and one of the city's most prominent citizens for many years, died Thursday afternoon at St. Joseph's Hospital, where he had been a patient nine days.

"Charlie" Wilson, as he was popularly known here, was born in Victoria Aug. 17, 1878, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson. His father was the founder of the widely-known clothing store of W. and J. Wilson. He attended Central School and Victoria High here before going to study law at Toronto's Osgoode Hall. There he received his degree in law, after which he returned to Victoria and was articled for a time to the law firm of Bodwell and Duff, the latter later becoming Sir Lyman Duff, Chief Justice of Canada. Mr. Wilson then went into partnership with Frank Peters, the firm being known as Peters and Wilson. Later Mr. Wilson opened his own office and in recent years had been a partner in the legal firm of Moore and Wilson.

Public spirited and interested in the welfare of humanity, Mr. Wilson had taken an interest in community life. For some time he was reeve and later councillor of Oak Bay municipality. For many years he has been a government appointee on the board of directors of St. Joseph's Hospital. In his earlier years he was a keen and active sportsman, hunting and fishing being among his favorite pastimes. More recently he played golf at Colwood and Oak Bay, and was a member of the Senior Golfers' Association.

Mr. Wilson was one of a large family of brothers, only one now living being J. E. Wilson, St. Charles Street. Other brothers were William Wilson, Biggerstaff Wilson and Goulding Wilson. There is also one sister living, Mrs. J. W. Church, 36 Douglas Street.

Besides his brother and sister, Mr. Wilson is survived by his wife, the former Dolly Sehl, whom he married Nov. 24, 1906; two sons, Eilbeck B. Wilson of Victoria and Lt.-Col. Roger Wilson, graduate in medicine of McGill and now attached to the medical corps of the British Army in the Middle East; one daughter, Miss Gloria Wilson, R.N., a recent graduate of St. Paul's Hospital and now on the staff of St. Joseph's Hospital.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A four-year-old child is Vancouver's first poliomyelitis case (infantile paralysis) for the 1944 season, Dr. John Kitching, city epidemiologist, said today.

Arena Meeting Next Thursday

The City Council will meet the citizens' committee interested in construction of a civic arena for discussions Thursday evening at 8 in the City Council Chamber, Acting Mayor Archie Wills announced today.

The date was fixed following consultation with Dr. Arthur Poyntz, acting chairman of the citizens' group. The council will hear suggestions from the committee over means of financing the proposed arena auditorium and will discuss sites.

The meeting, the acting mayor said, would be open and representatives from the surrounding municipalities and other organizations would be welcome.

Inquiry Considers Concentration Of B.C. Timber Rights

To what extent timber and timber lands may be concentrated in the hands of a few large operators in British Columbia is not known by the forestry department, C. D. Orchard, chief forester of the province told the Forest Inquiry today, which resumed after an adjournment of a month.

Mr. Justice Gordon McG. Sloan, royal commissioner, presided at the morning hearing, which was concerned with distribution of fire risk throughout the province, loss through slash burnings which escaped control, effect of slash burning on regeneration and annual cost of forest protection.

H. W. Davey, counsel for the commission, queried Mr. Orchard on the information held by the forestry department with regard to individual companies in B.C. and their timber holdings. Finding the area of timber land and volume of timber thereon held by operators throughout B.C. would be so great a job, Mr. Orchard said, that under present requirements of the Forest Act he could not see that the use that would be made of it would compensate for the cost of compilation.

"Yes, a change in forest policy might demand such compilation," he agreed in answer to a query of Mr. Davey's.

"At the present time we don't know with any degree of accuracy the concentration of ownership of timber in the province," he said.

When asked if the states of Oregon and Washington forest services had information compiled on individual companies, he said, he felt what information they had would be given by the operators themselves.

SLASH BURNING

Loss to the province through ur-tended slash burning—that is, burning which escaped a prescribed area, totaled $133,599 in 1943, Mr. Orchard told the inquiry. Lack of preparation for slash burning and failure to have sufficient men on the job once the burning began, resulted in the fires escaping, he said. No action has been taken to date on operators whose fires escaped, he said, although the department could prosecute.

F. S. McKinnon, a forester with the forestry department, told of the effects of slash burning, stating that burning after a fall of seed would destroy the seed. In areas where there was decayed wood covered with moss on the ground, slash burning would be necessary in order to allow the seed to get to the mineral soil, he said.

Annual amount spent on forest protection by the Forest Protection Fund in B.C. totaled $623,425 and the amount spent by other agencies totaled $242,169 a year, Mr. Orchard said.

Mr. Justice Sloan commented at this point that approximately $886,000 was spent to minimize a 10 per cent fire loss, while nothing was spent to minimize a 20 per cent loss from insect disease. Mr. Orchard explained that the amount saved from fire loss by that expended on protection was not known.

Discussing insect control and pathological research, Mr. Orchard said there had been no money spent on the work by the province since 1930 and no appropriation from the Dominion. Early in his evidence, the chief forester touched on the question of hardwoods in B.C. and said there was but a minor amount of them.

B.C. Log Scale Totals Up This Year So Far

VANCOUVER (CP)—Log scale totals for the lower coast region of British Columbia during May were below the total for May, 1943, but total scale for the first five months of this year shows an increase over the same period last year.

During last month 222,532,000 feet were scaled, compared with 225,039,984 feet in May last year.

Total scale for the first five months of this year was 884,730,502 feet, as against 738,321,510 feet in the same period last year.

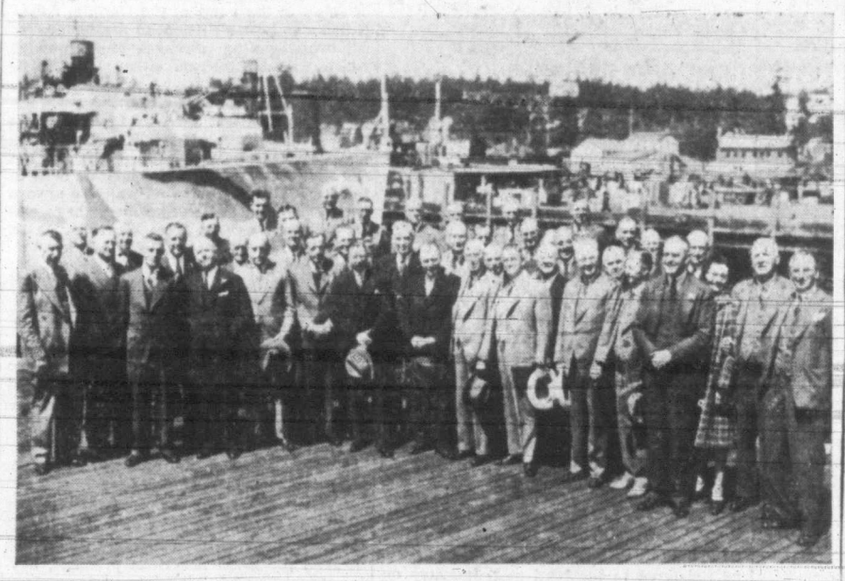
Shipbuilding Here Impresses Edmonton Group



Edmonton business men were impressed when they saw Victoria's booming industrial life during a tour Thursday in charge of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, under its president, G. Hamilton Harman. Here the group is shown at Yarrow's.

Members of Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, on their tour of Victoria industries, Thursday, expressed themselves as completely amazed at what this city is doing for Canada's war effort.

"I wouldn't have believed it," and "Just look at that," were common remarks as the visitors were taken over shipyards and other plants.

At the Yarrow plants in Esquimalt, where frigates and landing barges are being turned out, the visitors were escorted by Norman Yarrow, managing director, and F. B. McConnell, personnel manager. They saw the thousands of employees at work, under ideal conditions, turning out vessels to help beat the Axis.

At the Victoria Machinery Depot, the Edmontonions saw some of the fine "Park" vessels that are carrying supplies and munitions to Canada's allies in various parts of the world. H. S. Hammill, general manager of the plant, received the visitors, and took some of the Alberta businessmen aboard Ss. Salt Lake Park.

The visitors were much impressed by what they saw at the Kingston Street plant of Falconer Marine Industries Limited, formerly Armstrong Brothers. There lifeboats are being turned out on a production line of one a day. Arnold Moran, head of the firm, explained in detail every process.

Logan Mayhew took a party of the visitors over the plant of the Sidney Roofing and Paper Company, and Herbert Pendray conducted some of the group over the plant of the British America Paint Company.

Following private dinners, the Edmonton people were taken on short motor drives about the city by members of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and left at midnight for Vancouver, en route home.

Army, Navy Repeat Orders to Drivers

Reeve Thomas Hadfield and Police Chief H. W. V. Pecknold of Esquimalt were assured Thursday at a meeting with Col. K. W. Hicks, acting brigadier in the Victoria area, and Capt. P. B. German, R.C.N., naval officer in charge here, that disciplinary action would be taken if traffic regulations were broken by army and navy drivers.

Police Chief Pecknold also received Thursday a copy of an order to all army units from Pacific Command headquarters repeating the standing order for all army drivers to observe municipal traffic regulations.

The letter from Pacific Command was sent without solicitation from Esquimalt after a meeting between staff officers and the Vancouver Traffic and Safety Council president.

Ferry Master Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—Funeral service was held today for Capt. William John Fatke, 69, retired commodore master of North Vancouver ferries, who died here Wednesday. Born in Germany, Capt. Fatke lived 48 years in Vancouver. He was a charter member of the Canadian Merchant Service Guild, and for several years was treasurer of the guild. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. S. F. Corbett, of Prince Rupert.

Salvage Sends Forces 120,000 Magazines

From the joint operation of the Salvage Corps of B.C., I.O.D.E. and Boy Scouts in making one circuit of city home for salvage, I.O.D.E. has supplied 120,000 recent numbers of popular magazines since November, 1943, and, in the last three weeks, has prepared and shipped 7,000 magazines to the forces stationed at Duncan, Comox and isolated camps, according to the report of A. H. Pease, honorary manager, to directors of the Salvage Corps of B.C.

These were dealt with in the two salvage depots at Cloverdale and the Churchill Hotel, he said.

SASKATCHEWAN FOR SOCIALISM?

NOTHING THE LIBERALS OR THE CONservatives or anybody else may say about yesterday's historic event in Saskatchewan will alter the fact that the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation party scored a victory at the polls which probably exceeded its own rosiest expectations. It was a victory about which there can be no equivocation whatsoever—a triumph of hard work and superb organization. Nor will any good purpose be served by speculating on the reason why the Patterson government had failed, as this is written, to win more than four or five of the 51 seats in which its candidates had entered the lists. And when the final returns are tabulated it is quite likely the victors will have a following to present to the next Legislature of at least 45—a majority ratio equal to that scored by the Liberals a decade ago.

The winning party's leader, the Rev. Thomas Clement Douglas—a Baptist minister who resigned his seat in the House of Commons to enter the provincial fight—is entitled to pat himself on the back. He may also think that the 728th anniversary of the signing of Magna Charta was an auspicious day on which to win his mandate. As Premier-elect of Canada's first C.C.F. government, therefore, the people of the Dominion as a whole will watch with absorbing interest the unfolding of plans for the deliverance of the good folk of Saskatchewan from the ills his party's speakers have described with such fervor on the hustings.

Several aspects of yesterday's contest should stand out clearly in the minds of millions of Canadians as they try to sort out the implications of the result. More than 52 per cent of the electors of Saskatchewan decided in the customary democratic fashion that they wanted a change—regardless of whether all of the 193,000 who voted for C.C.F. candidates knew precisely what kind of a change they wanted. The party led by Mr. Douglas offered them Socialism—a system which national C.C.F. leader Coldwell would adopt gradually, but a system which British Columbia's C.C.F. leader Winch would adopt in this province immediately on his acquisition of political power. He has said so. It is not too much to argue, therefore, that the voters in the prairie province were baffled by the spectacle of Liberals and Conservatives in virtual agreement on fundamentals, but fighting one another in 39 of the 51 constituencies. And it requires little or no imagination to understand how the changed thought processes of these times were influenced by this condition. By the same token, however, the Saskatchewan verdict may have sounded a warning to a large number of British Columbians.

Part of that warning is simple to read: If the present excellent coalition government over which Mr. Hart so ably presides is to win its next appeal to the people of this province, it must avoid three-party contests. Nor should this be difficult; the Premier and Mr. Maitland should lose no time—as we have advocated in these columns on several occasions—in converting into a lasting union the marriage of convenience they contracted at the beginning of 1942. To be sure, some in both Liberal and Conservative parties will stoutly object to the surrender of outworn labels; yet many of these would find it difficult to explain just why they are Liberals or Conservatives in the provincial sense. The malcontents, for the most part, are liabilities to both. We do not think our people want Mr. Winch's Socialism. Thus we suggest that the way is now open for Mr. Hart and Mr. Maitland to make a bold move in the best interests of British Columbia.

VOICE OF THE PAST

WE ARE REMINDED OF THE FUN THE late B.C. Nicholas used to have in these columns as he contemplated the antics—noting, of course, their sinister implications—of the Ku Klux Klan in the United States nearly a quarter of a century ago. And we are especially reminded of those days by a small item in the news which informs the world that the Klan's "Imperial Wizard" is disbanding the organization and suspending its functions—but with authority to "meet and reincarnate."

Most of us probably were surprised that the Klan still existed—even more surprising to look now and survey the organization's brief but alarming course in the light of subsequent events. Probably Adolf Hitler never heard of the Ku Klux Klan. But the Klan and his Nazi party were assuredly blood relations. Their aims were different but their fundamental philosophy was the same. And the Klan had it first. When the present Fuehrer was an insignificant beer-hall politician just out of prison, the Klan had a strange hold on half a dozen state governments, and boasted of 5,000,000 members.

The Klan's symptoms were distressing enough 20 years ago, but they must appear to our neighbors today as a narrow escape. Take a comparative look. The Klan, like the Nazi party, was built on a theory of racial supremacy. It was anti-Semitic, anti-Negro, anti-foreigner, anti-Catholic. Like the Nazi party, it was so ridiculous as to be laughed at by thinking people at first. Nevertheless, its uniforms and drilling, its secrecy, its mumbo-jumbo of wizards, dragons, kleagles and klanvocations brought a feeling of importance to a certain type of mind. Its propaganda line absolved members of the necessity of thinking and of a sense of individual responsibility. Its anti-minority philosophy offered an attractive assort- of individual responsibility.

What the Klan might have done in a less complacent period is not pleasant to contemplate. As it was, it did fairly well according to Nazi standards. There were plenty of instances of intimidation and brutality before the invisible empire crumbled, largely because the corruption of its leaders finally exceeded their ability to conceal it. The point of all this is that Klanism, Fascism, and Naziism were postwar maladies. We can scarcely hope that the end of the present fighting will find their viruses destroyed. But we can be vigilant against the danger of pent-up grudges taking a klanish form once they are released. No nation, after fighting a second war for freedom and democracy, can afford a Ku Klux Klan or its equivalent.

JAPAN GETS BODY BLOW

FROM WORD AND PICTURE IN RECent months the world has absorbed some idea of what was expected of the American B-29 Super-Fortress. Experts had written of its capacity—without divulging any of the secrets of the craft's mechanism—and the illustrations could not fail to intrigue the imagination. None of this had escaped the war lords of Tokyo. Reports of the frantic building of new air shelters in Nippon's larger industrial cities, moreover, gave the Allies the clue that Tojo and his royal master were getting nervous. They had ample reason. How many of these aerial battleships dropped their calling cards on the Japanese homeland yesterday we have not been told. The full story will be worth waiting for. In the meantime, however, the authors of the "Greater East Asia Co-prosperity Sphere" may find a new topic of conversation; there will be little humor in it.

Almost as frightening to the bombastic little Nipponese braggarts as the actual introduction of the latest in bombing style, perhaps, will be the prophetic tone of the remarks with which General George Marshall and General H. H. Arnold embellished the announcement of the action itself. Said the former: "Because of the enormous range and heavy bomb load of this newest bombardment plane, they can strike from many and remote bases at a single objective." Said the latter: "This employment of the B-29 makes possible the softening-up attack on Japan very much earlier than would be possible with aircraft hitherto known to combat."

If there is anything in the dictum that "seeing is believing," Hirohito and Tojo are now at liberty to give full rein to their heaven-sent imaginations. Apart from the vast possibilities which this first practical application of Allied air power against Japan proper would seem to open up, the ambitious concept of the assault will cheer up the hard-pressed Chinese, especially those valiant forces striving desperately and against heavy odds to keep the hated invader from winning his fourth bid for possession of Changsha.

ORES AND BEARINGS

TO WHAT EXTENT SWEDEN INTENDS to curtail her shipments of ball-bearings to Hitler's Reich is not specified in Tuesday's dispatch reporting the decision. It is nevertheless apparent that the pressure applied by Great Britain and the United States to prevent these sales is beginning to have some effect on the government at Stockholm. This probable development takes on new significance in the light of Portugal's action in agreeing to stop all shipments of wolfram to Germany—and to close all her wolfram mines immediately. Here is new evidence that Portugal's Premier Salazar is still mindful of the spirit and intent of the ancient treaty of amity and mutual assistance between his country and great Britain.

It should be noted, incidentally, that even more than Spain, Portugal has been one of Germany's principal sources of supply of the steel-hardening ore. Possibly as much as half of her normal annual production of 6,000 tons went to the Reich. Now none of it will be available. Thus another blow is administered to the Nazi steel industry on top of the blow sustained when Spain agreed to cut her shipments of wolfram from 1,000 tons to 280 tons a year. Note, moreover, that Lisbon has gone the whole hog in meeting Allied desires. In doing so the Portuguese government is setting an example which other neutrals might well imitate.

It is also emphasized in Washington that Portugal's action is significant for another reason: In their efforts to get her to make a move, Great Britain and the United States had the active and most helpful support and co-operation of Brazil, whose advice to Lisbon has had no small bearing on the final outcome of the discussions. In this as in so many other particulars, Brazil is demonstrating that she is both a good neighbor and a loyal ally of Canada's neighbor. Add these new curtailments of vital ore shipments to Turkey's recent discontinuance of all chrome supplies to the Reich, and one can easily see new difficulties ahead for Adolf Hitler's war industries.

NOTES

After the brand of government the French have had for the last few years, anything will be an improvement.

Toes feel much better when allowed to roam at large, but the barefoot boy is the only one smart enough to do anything about it.

A new instrument combining the trumpet, alto horn and trombone is announced at the worst time. Where can the neighbors find another house to move into.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM A READER OF OUR FIRST ISSUE

I WISH TO add my congratulations to the Victoria Daily Times on its celebration of its 60th birthday. My congratulations are sincere, as by the very excellent paper you have published for these 60 years, you have well earned all the support which the public has given you.

It was on May 17, 1884, that my brother, a sister and myself arrived in Victoria from Perth, Scotland. I was just in time to get a copy of the first issue of the Victoria Times. I still get the Times every night to read after supper. So I thought you would like to hear from one of your original subscribers.

My brother, Alex, died 20 years ago. My sister is still living, in Newport, U.S.A. I am still hale and hearty, thank God. I spent yesterday grubbing stumps and enjoyed it, though the thermometer was 92 in the shade.

I tried to retire, but couldn't stop working.

We now have 30 grandchildren, with seven of the boys in the army trying to bring peace to our distracted world. We have three great-grandsons and two great-grand-daughters. There is not a derelict among all these children.

I have cleared two farms and am helping a son-in-law to clear his now.

But time has played havoc with all the friends I started out life with here, and this war is doing the same with others.

I was born March 3, 1862, at the time of the Civil War between the North and the South and it seems the world has been fighting ever since.

CALL TO PRAYER

From British Information Service

In Capetown, ever since the war started, it is the custom to have a two-minute pause every day at 12 o'clock.

At this time immediately following the noonday signal-gun, reveille is sounded by a bugler in person on a conspicuous balcony in Adderley Street, and also by radio. It is followed two minutes later by the last post. During the pause, all street traffic comes to a standstill, work ceases, and people everywhere—in street, workshop, office, school, or home—stand in respectful silence.

The pause has been explained by its organizers to be a call to pray for men and women at the battlefront; the sick, the wounded, and those who are prisoners of war; those who are anxious about the well-being of their loved ones and a lasting peace.

FROM ONE LIFE TO ANOTHER

From New York Times

Civilization in Rome has at times grown like an oak and at times withered like a flower.

It is a little less than 21½ years since Mussolini introduced what he called "the dawn of a new history for Italy, and perhaps dawn on a new path of civilization." This lapse of time has been sufficient to permit an imitation of the Mussolinian state to come to monstrous bloom and enter the first stages of decay in the lands of the German tribes. It has also been sufficient to muster armies of overwhelming strength from nations which will not tolerate either Fascism or Naziism any longer.

F. Marion Crawford wrote: "A man can no more say a last farewell to Rome than he can take leave of eternity. The years move on but she waits; the cities fall but she stands; the old races of men lie dead in the track wherein mankind wanders always between two darknesses; yet Rome lives, and her changes are not from life to death as ours are, but from one life to another."

COFFEE

From San Francisco Chronicle

Just when we were settling down to enjoying our coffee at breakfast without restraint, a Stanford professor comes forth to worry us about it. A cup of coffee is not merely a morning bracer, Dr. Wickizer says. It is crammed full of international relations. It has social significance. It holds more fortunes, individual and national, than gypsies ever read in tea.

As a war policy, the professor reports in his book, "The World Coffee Economy," the United States has artifically stimulated demand for Latin American products, buying them at unduly high prices. If we don't keep this up after the war, there may be a depression in Latin America, with many unemployed, and it will be our fault.

It just goes to show how impossible it is these days to attain isolation, with international problems climbing right up on our breakfast tables.

THE UNRETURNING

Do not grieve for a dead love; but rather Lament the living-lost: for Death, that seems
So surely to divide lover from lover,
So utterly and at once to quench our dreams
Is but a sleep from which we must wake—a river
To which we come down alone at evening-end,
Not so dark or so wide but, having passed over,
Lover may find lover, and friend, friend.

Death shall give up its dead: but who shall restore us
Those whom Life has taken, they who are gone
Down devious roads that led to our forsaking?
The sun will shine again as the sun shone
Over the gleaming trails we walked at morning—
Again where the bracken burnt shall the bracken burn:
Death shall give up its slain when the dead awaken—
Only the living-lost never return.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The significance of Thursday's sensational bombing of Japan lies not in the mere fact a terrifying blow has been struck at the enemy's homeland, for that's been done before, but that at long last the Allies are operating from land bases—not aircraft carriers.

This presumably marks the beginning of regular air assaults on Japan, and by bombers so huge and powerful that the biggest machines previously employed—and they are monsters—are relegated to the position of mere "mediums." With the bombs from these leviathans tearing at the bowels of Gen. Tojo's industries, we shall achieve a great shortening of the war in the Orient.

Authorities are purposely withholding details of this historic raid so as not to give the enemy information. The Japanese have said the industrial areas of Moji and Shimonoseki, within 500 miles of Tokyo, were bombed.

However, the Nipponese probably weren't really surprised, for they had foreseen this development. That's one of the reasons for their present all-out offensive to capture the Hankow-Canton railway through the heart of China and create a barrier against Allied progress eastward towards the coast. The Japanese have been fearful of the establishment of new U.S. airfields in China. Perhaps their fears were justified.

The daring amphibious invasion of Saipan Island in the Marianas after a heavy bombardment is a further shocking blow to Japan. Possession of that strategic point would give the Allies another air base from which we could hammer the motherland. It also helps to nullify the effectiveness of Truk—Japan's most powerful naval and air base in the central Pacific.

Bombs over Japan and Saipan are a mighty fine echo to the Allied onslaught in Normandy.

LONDON CHURCHES DAMAGED

London Correspondence, Manchester Guardian

The "well-known church" that was damaged in a recent enemy fire raid was St. Dunstan's-in-the-West. For a time its lantern tower flared like a torch over the Fleet Street roofs. St. Dunstan's fretted tower, a fine feature of a dull church, rises to a lantern inspired by the famous "Boston Stump." Izaak Walton's shop was in St. Dunstan's churchyard. The greater Fleet Street church, Wren's St. Bride's, was hit in an earlier raid and is only a shell. St. Clement Danes, which is almost a Fleet Street church, was also burnt out. A famous bank where Pepys kept his account had its roof damaged.

NATIONAL DESTINIES

I am everlastingly convinced that the destinies of the hundreds of millions of men and women who happen to be nationals of the smaller countries cannot be determined for them by the major powers.—Sumner Welles.

BEETHOVEN CHORAL CLUB AIDS SOLARIUM

By AUDREY St.D. JOHNSON

The Queen Alexandra Solarium will benefit as a result of a purely vocal program given Thursday night in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium, by Beethoven Choral Club and the advanced pupils of Prof. J. B. Hoffman. The concert was largely attended and well received, in spite of a rather long program of ambitious proportions.

A large share of the concert was given over to operatic selections, among them such difficult arias as "Pace, Pace," from Verdi's "La Forza Del Destino," sung by Thelma Gaetz, who has a clear, musical soprano, and "O Mio Fernando," from "La Favorita," by Donietti, which gave Evelyn McGonigle opportunity to exploit the wide range and rich mezzo notes of her naturally fine voice.

Thomas Crabbe, baritone, brought a professional touch to the program with his more polished technique, as he sang "Little Jack Horner," in mimicry of Handel's arias. He also sang the solo, "Open Road, Open Sky," from Johann Strauss' "The Gypsy Baron." In this he was supported by the chorus.

PLEASING DUET

Several duets were included, most pleasing being Thira Gaetz and George Farmer, soprano and tenor, in Eric Coates' "Birdsong at Eventide." This, and the delightful "Children's Prayer," from "Hansel and Gretel," were more enjoyable than the duet from "Aida," which, while revealing great potentialities on the part of both Thelma Gaetz and Evelyn McGonigle, placed too great a strain on their, as yet, inadequate technical and artistic achievements.

The choral club is a mixed chorus, and conducted by Mr. Hoffman, they sang six numbers. As all the soloists are members of the group, their tonal quality is particularly good, and the male section lent rich cording to the balance and blend of the whole. They opened the program with "By the Bend of the River" (Edwards), swung along rhythmically in support of Mr. Crabbe in the "Gypsy Baron," and later gave a showy arrangement of "Tales From the Vienna Woods," with promising coloratura soprano Kathleen Paulin as soloist. Bringing the concert to a close, they sang "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," and Oley Speaks' "When the Boys Come Home," with Mr. Crabbe in the solo part.

The following took part: Mrs. J. J. Fraser, Mrs. L. McDonald, Byrdie Ellers, Valdrada Speed, Thira Gaetz, Thelma Gaetz, Kathleen Paulin, Evelyn McGonigle, Jeanne Heaslip, Joan Speed, Irene Byatt, Arthur J. Speed, W. Alexander, Thomas Crabbe and George Farmer.

Dorothy Dix

MEN ILLOGICAL ON GROOMING

Dear Dorothy Dix—A poor husband writes you how the pretty girl can turn into an old slop and her husband loses his taste for her because she smells of babies and diapers and the kitchen, instead of putting perfume behind her ears. But men don't stop to think that the shoe fits the male as well as the female foot, and that women are just as disillusioned with untidy husbands as husbands are with messy-looking wives.

Now I am married to a good-looking man and I like to see him shaven and barbered and dressed up, but he feels that at home he has a right to stroll around shirtless and with a three days' beard on his face. He certainly doesn't look like the Lothario I married. Many a divorce is caused by men's fear of soap and water, for women just naturally drift towards more sweetly groomed men and men who are easier to look at than the imperfect ablutioners, as they used to say in the old Gilbert and Sullivan opera, to whom we are married.

A DISILLUSIONED WIFE.

MEN DON'T TAKE OUT UNKEMPT GIRLS

Answer—Even so. Even so. Nothing else in the world is more incongruous than that men esteem cleanliness and daintiness above all other virtues in women, yet they never seem to think that it makes any difference to women how dirty and unkempt they are. No man would step out with a girl whose hair needed combing, whose hands cried aloud for a manicure, whose clothes were soiled and rumpled and who looked as if she needed to be run through the laundry.

Husbands feel that they are justified in leaving wives who slop around the house looking like the wrath of God; yet these same men will expect a girl to be proud to be seen out with them when they are dressed like tramps, have hair straggling over their rumpled collars, and give ample proof to all and sundry that they are not on speaking terms with the bathtub.

And the very husbands who pass up their wives, who look like something the cat brought in, for women who are prinked and powdered and perfumed and made up to the last hair on their heads expect their wives to stay in love with them when they sit around the house in their stocking feet and their undershirts.

Funny, isn't it? Especially when men know that women put more stress on appearances than they do.

Social Situation

The situation: Your hostess offers you a certain kind of bottled drink that you do not like.

Wrong way—Say, "No thanks, I never drink them."

Right way—Say, "I don't believe I'll have one right now, thank you." (The first is a criticism of what your hostess offers you.)

CHEMICALS PRODUCE FOAM USED IN FIGHTING FIRES

When we hear a fire alarm and watch for the firemen, we do not see the dashing horses which used to pull fire engines. Steam fire engines and fire wagons have become things of the past.

Early in the present century, motor-driven fire trucks came into use. Some persons shook their heads and said that children no longer could enjoy watching a fire so much! Yet the motor fire truck proved that it could get to a fire much faster.

Instead of steam fire engines, with their sparks and smoke, we now have motor pumps which do much better work. These motors send strong streams of water into blazing buildings.

A fire hose two and a half inches in diameter is of standard size at the present day.

The pumping power is very great. It is common for a hose to deliver 500 gallons of water per minute, and many can deliver from 1,000 to 1,500 gallons per minute. A fire unit in one large city is rated as having the power of sending out 3,000 gallons per minute!

Fire trucks take many things to a fire besides hose and pumps. They have ladders, first aid kits, electric saws and cranes. The firemen wear gas masks while they are in dangerous spots. Some fire departments have searchlight trucks, for use at night. The searchlight can fix a powerful light on a burning building.

Firemen often take small fire extinguishers to a fire. These can be carried about and are useful in putting out small fires. When they can do the work, they save the contents of the building from needless damage by water.

During the past 20 years, great progress has been made in the use of chemicals to fight fires. This may be done on a small scale with a portable fire extinguisher, or on a large scale.

Chemical trucks have been built for fire departments, and there can hurl a mass of "foam" on a burning surface. The foam looks something like whipped cream, and is produced by the mixing of chemicals while the stream is being directed at a fire. It smothers the flames, taking away the oxygen.

FIVE TIE games, postponements due to the weather and wet grounds and an invasion day cancel out, have put the ball league so far behind in its schedule we doubt if the boys will catch up. They will soon have to adopt the same system as the major leagues by having the clubs pick up their tie games and play them out. Might be a good idea to have some Saturday set aside as "tie game day" and let all the clubs show up to run off their stalemates. That would be one way of cleaning up the schedule. When it comes time to close out the regular schedule the officials may find they will have to run off some of the no-decision affairs in order to settle the standings. Up to the present the air force are the only team that has played more games so the league may decide to wash out the entire slate of tie results and just close off the schedule when all the clubs have played the same number of contests.

NOTICE where the Vancouver Senior League is scheduling all its four teams for action on July 1 so the local circuit will have to look elsewhere for a club to appear here in exhibition games on the holiday. In past seasons a mainland team has always shown here in a doubleheader for the Dominion Day trophy and the league had hoped to bring over the league-leading Arrows for this year's engagement. Of course, Bellingham was scheduled to play in Vancouver May 24 but elected to come here so Arrows might be prevailed on to make the jaunt across the gulf. Otherwise the league will have to bring over a Washington team for the holiday bill.

FASTBALL teams are getting pretty fed up over the condition of the playing fields at the Central and Victoria West Parks. They feel it is time the city parks board made some effort to put the grounds into at least fair shape and eliminate the chances of players suffering injury through the bumps, holes and ruts that dot the fields. Chatting to Art Bird, one of the softball umpires who works games at these parks he described the playing conditions as "a disgrace." "When you consider the parks are being used five nights a week and the number of players taking part it seems the city should do something to improve these fields," he said.

ORGANIZED a few weeks ago the Vancouver Island Seniors' Golf Association is rapidly filling out its membership and the limit of 75 should be reached shortly, according to Fred Smith, one of the sponsors of the new organization. The Uplands Club has already disposed of its quota and seniors of the other local clubs are showing a marked interest in the group. Smith said today he wanted to clear up an impression that was being circulated around the clubs. The new association is open only to members of clubs in good standing and they must have a recognized handicap. Several applications have been received from players who are not members of clubs and have no handicaps but they will be refused, Smith said.

FIRST TOURNAMENT of the new association will be held July 10 and 11 over the links of the Uplands and Victoria clubs. The event will be 36 holes medal on full handicap and is certain to attract a large entry. The island seniors plan to divide their players into three age groups 50 to 60 years; 60 to 70 and 70 and over. The association membership is open to golfers of 50 years and over. So any of you senior golfers who plan on joining the new association had better get in your applications immediately.

Mancuso Credits Vitamin Pills For Great Comeback

NEW YORK (AP) — Those Vitamin B-1 tablets, to which Mel Ott attributes his remarkable home-run surge, have given ancient Gus Mancuso a new lease on life.

One of the oldest catchers in the major leagues in point of service, with the exception of Rollie Hemsley of the New York Yankees, Mancuso, apparently, has won the New York Giants' first-string receiving job from Ernie Lombardi.

Inserted into a revised line-up on May 23, the swarthy Texan made two hits and drove in a pair of runs. Since then, Gus has been hitting timely, drawing frequent bases on balls, and handling the pitchers flawlessly.

Including Tuesday's game, Mancuso has caught 15 of the last 19 games, and made 16 hits in 43 at bat for an average of .372. Besides he has coaxed nine free passes.

"Yes, I've been taking the same pills Ottie has, and they're wonderful. I take a shot every night before I go to bed. Not only do I sleep well, but I get up fully refreshed," Gus says.

MORE SPEED

Mancuso also credits the vitamins for his increase in speed. Of late he has been going from first to third on an outfield hit, and has even outlegged a couple of infield hits.

The 38-year-old veteran of four major league clubs, who hasn't hit over .231 in the last five years, revealed that he has changed his batting stance.

"I choke up on the bat and punch the ball rather than cut away, as in previous years. I'm not going after as many bad balls as I used to when I swung from the end of the bat, and I've been getting those bases on balls."

Senior Ball Clubs Play Three Games

Highlighted by a battle tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 between the Victoria Machinery Depot and Navy, the senior ball league will stage three games over the week-end.

This will be the third meeting between the league-leading shipbuilders and the sailors. They opened the season with a 4 to 4 tie while the second engagement resulted in a 3 to 2 win for the Navy. Cy Shillito, with three straight pitching wins to his credit, will go to the mound for the V.M.D., while Jimmy Ingamells is the likely choice for the bluejackets.

Tonight at 6.30 the R.C.A.F. Flyers will hook up with the Eagles. The airmen have chalked up three wins and a draw in their last four starts and are proving the most improved club in the circuit.

Tomorrow night at 6.30 it will be Eagles against the Army.

Cricket Matches

Line-up of the Five C's cricket team for the match tomorrow afternoon against the Royal Navy at Macdonald Park will be chosen from the following: J. Payne, Adie, G. Payne, McKean, Harper, Cliff, Anders, Parker, Shrimpton, Attwell and Gardiner.

The other match will bring together the Albions and the Royal Canadian Navy at Beacon Hill Park. Both fixtures will commence at 2.30.

Boston Sox Still Win

Capture Ninth Straight

Boston Red Sox joined St. Louis Browns in running the longest winning streak of the season when they defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 5 to 1, yesterday, for their ninth straight victory.

Tex Hughson, Red Sox ace righthander, gained his ninth victory to bring his team to within a half game of the league-leading Brownies. Hughson thus ties Hal Newhouser of the Detroit Tigers for the most victories in the American League. He allowed the Athletics six hits to give the Sox a clean sweep of the four-game series.

The New York Giants defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers 9 to 2 last night to move into a tie with the Cincinnati Reds for third place. Mel Ott smashed his 17th homer in the first inning with two on.

Washington made it three out of four over the New York Yankees, with Mickey Haefner outpitching Joe Page 3 to 2.

Rookie Paul O'Dea's single in the 11th inning scored Oris Hockett to give Cleveland a 3 to 2 win over Detroit. Joe Heving, who twirled the last four innings was the winner and Paul Trout, going all the way, the loser. The victories advanced the Senators and Indians a couple of notches into a fourth-place tie.

Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati 1 to 0, scoring the lone run in the ninth on Bob Elliott's single scoring Jeep Handley.

The Philadelphia Phillies came from behind twice to win from the Boston Braves, 5 to 4. Ford Mullen's single with two out scored Jimmy Wasdell, who had doubled to start the eighth. Jim Tobin, in relief, was charged with the loss and Ken Raffensberger received the win.

The St. Louis and Chicago clubs in both leagues were not scheduled.

COAST LEAGUE

Manager Dolph Camilli's rampaging Oakland Acorns had built up a 13 to 1 margin over Portland by the time the second out was made in the top half of the sixth inning.

Perhaps it was the lop-sided score that made them forget. Anyway, the two teams, still with only two out, suddenly broke up activities and changed positions, the Oaks taking the field and the Beavers seeking the shelter of their dugout.

It wasn't until well into the next inning that the scorer brought the boner to light.

It was straight baseball from then on, with Camilli's crew winning 17 to 2 and dropping Portland out of first place in favor of the San Francisco Seals, who trimmed San Diego 6 to 1.

Dick Conger let Seattle down with hits and bagged four safeties himself to lead Los Angeles to a 9 to 2 win over the Rainiers. It was Seattle's sixth loss in seven tries.

Hollywood had an easy time with towering Steve Le Gault, Sacramento's stringbean pitcher. Fifteen Hollywood hits were good for a 9 to 1 triumph.

Vic Ghezzi Leads With Subpar 67; Sets Course Mark

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) —Sgt. Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N.J., paced a field of 110 starters through the first 18 holes of the $13,333 New York Red Cross golf tournament Thursday with a five-under-part 67, fashioned with a course-record 30 on the back nine.

The round gave him a two-stroke edge over Byron Nelson, pre-tourney favorite from Toledo, Ohio.

Back of the two leaders, with sub - par 70's, came Frank Strazza of Greenwich, Conn., and Ziggie Mellon of Bronxville, N.Y.

Six players were bracketed at 71, including veteran Gene Sarazen of Darien, Conn, and Jug McSpaden of Philadelphia.

Other scores included Sam Byrd, 74; Paul Runyan, 75, and Craig Wood, 77.

Bobby Summers Has Winner at Dufferin

TORONTO (CP) — Donedna, owned by C. King of Hamilton, Ont., won a surprise victory Thursday in the Lake Shore Handicap, seven furlong feature of the inaugural program of the Long Branch Jockey Club meeting at Dufferin race track.

Given a superb ride by jockey Bobby Summers, he sped to the finish line by a nose over W. T. Northgrave's Pacific Isle, who was two lengths in front of the Garden City Stable's Brother Pat.

The winner paid $24.90 for a $2 win ticket.

Pacific Isle and the favored Gallant Foc, from the Riverdale Stable, had most of the early speed, followed closely by Brother Pat and Donedna.

ATKINSON HAS PAIR

NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Atkinson, Toronto jockey who rode five winners Wednesday and 10 in the first three days this week, booted home two more at Aqueduct yesterday.

Atkinson, who figured he had ridden 124 winning mounts before yesterday's program, guided Mrs. Payne Whitney's Tambo, a $4.90 for $2 favorite, home first in the featured Gowanus Purse at six furlongs, then completed his double aboard Allessandro in the day's last race.

Tambo came fast in the stretch to beat a field horse, Yodeler, by a half length with Bud Grey third. A crowd of 18,368 sent $1,987,563 through the mutuel machines.

Hycilla Wins Oaks; Derby On Tomorrow

NEWMARKET, Eng. (CP) — Hycilla, owned by William Woodward, won the Oaks classic today at odds of 8 to 1.

Monsoon and Kannabis were second and third in the mile-and-a-half test for three-year-old fillies. The co-favorites, Tudor Maid and Picture Play, were out of the money.

Britain's fifth wartime racing season reaches its climax tomorrow with the running of the Derby over Newmarket's historic downs. About 20 are expected to start.

The American-owned Hycilla did not race as a two-year-old, and in her only previous start this season she ran no better than second in a maiden stakes.

But today, with G. Bridgeland up, she took the lead at the mile post and stood off Monsoon and Kannabis to win by a length and a half in 2.30 3-5.

THIRD MAJOR TRIUMPH

The filly by Hyperion — 1933 Derby winner, who sired Pensive, winner of this year's Kentucky Derby — brought Woodward his third victory in major British classics. He took the St. Leger with Boswell in 1936, and the 1,000 Guineas with Brown Betty in 1933.

Picture Play, winner of the 1,000 Guineas this year, never threatened the leaders, and wound up sixth, while Tudor Maid finished ninth in the field of 15.

The victory brought Woodward about $14,000.

While Picture Play and Tudor Maid were pre-race favorites at 5 to 2 and 7 to 2, Hycilla had been well liked, and quoted as third choice at 100 to 8.

Monsoon paid backers about 8 to 1 to place, and Kannabis was worth 9 to 2 to show.

Henry Armstrong Finishes Davis In Second Round

NEW YORK (AP)—Hammering Henry Armstrong battered Al (Bummy) Davis to the canvas in quick order at Madison Square Garden Thursday night, scoring a technical knockout in 69 seconds of the second round. Davis was down for counts of eight and nine in the first round.

Bouncing back from a 10-round defeat at the hands of Willie Joyce in Chicago two weks ago, Armstrong, a 13 to 5 favorite, gave Davis an unmerciful beating before referee Frank Fullam stopped it.

Each weighed 141¾ pounds.

From the opening bell, Armstrong was on top of Davis. He whaled away with lefts and rights at close quarters, then, suddenly, stepped away and whipped over a left and Davis' knees sagged.

Another left and right, and down went Davis for eight. Armstrong swarmed over him again and with a series of lefts and rights knocked Davis outside the ropes. Davis managed to stagger inside the ropes at nine as the bell rang. Many thought he had been counted out.

Davis was helpless in the second round. It was Armstrong left and Armstrong right. Davis went down for four, then two, then sprawled on his stomach. Referee Fullham didn't bother to count as he waved Armstrong away.

SUSPEND JOCKEYS

DETROIT (AP)—Stewards at the Detroit race track, continuing a disciplinary program Thursday handed out five-day suspensions to Jockeys Cornelio Mojena and C. L. Martin for unsatisfactory riding performances. The action increased the list of jockey suspensions to eight in 22 days.

Softball Battles

Navy-Army Victors

City senior A fastballers swung into action again last night, after a week's lay-off, with two interesting contests. In the curtain raiser, a hard-hitting Army nine made short work of the R.C.A.F. Blues, new entry in the league, by the one-sided score of 12 to 3. The second contest resulted in a Navy win over Tommy Tuckers, after a nip and tuck struggle, 6 to 4.

The soldiers, one run behind at the end of the first, 2 to 1, took matters in hand and scored in every inning bar the second and fourth. Three runners crossed the plate in the third; three in the fifth, one in the sixth, and four in the seventh. Blues only reply was one in the fifth.

Martin, throwing for Army, allowed six hits, walked one and struck out eight. Shore, Blues, was nicked for 11 safeties, walked two, and struck out 4. Blues errored five times; Army three.

Umpire Art Bird ordered Army second baseman Hobbs out of the game in the seventh when he used "catch as catch can" tactics on Dunlop when the latter stole second.

Navy backed up the pitching of Ossie Ross with hits when they were most needed. After being out in front 5 to 1, at the end of the fifth, the sailors subdued a three-run Tucker rally in the 6th, scored another in the seventh, to run out victors.

MONCAR HITS HOMER

The big stick of Hank Moncar, smooth-working Navy first baseman, helped things along with four for four, including a sweet wallop over centre fielder Johnstone's head that went for a home run. To make the result certain, Tuckers threw in five errors in the field as against one for the sailors. Ross, Navy chucker, donated two bingles and was more or less lucky getting out of a bad hole in the third when McLellan and Kennedy flew out with the bags loaded. He issued two "frees" and fanned two, Joe Bryant lasted four and one-third frames for Tuckers, giving up five hits, two walks, and striking out two. Billsborough, who relieved, was nicked for three hits, and whiffed two.

Tuckers made their big bid in the sixth, hits by Kennedy, Johnstone, Findlay, Watson, Baker, and an error by Wilson, sending three runs home. Hussey's spectacular catch of Billsborough's high fly closed the rally.

Short scores follow:

	R.	H.	E.
Army	12	11	3
R.C.A.F.	3	6	5
Batteries—Martin and Milliken; Shore and Kelly.
Navy	6	8	1
Tuckers	12	4	0
Batteries—Ross and Jackson; Bryant, Billsborough and Kennedy.

In a women's game, Hudson's Bay defeated Boeings, 14 to 5, while in a junior game the Boilermakers turned back K.V.'s, 15 to 3.

Battleships Bombard Flanks Says Communique No. 20

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE (AP)—The Allies have made further steady progress west of Carentan, the Supreme Command announced in Communique No. 20 Thursday night.

Ground gained in the area of Quineville has made available a valuable new outlet from the beaches, SHAEF said.

Progress also has been made between the rivers Vire and Elle.

Allied troops repulsed violent armored attacks in the Caumont Tilly sector with considerable loss to the enemy.

"In the Cherbourg peninsula ground gained in the area of Quineville has made available a valuable new outlet from the beaches.

"During yesterday mobile batteries on the flanks were engaged as necessary by Allied warships. On the eastern flank H.M.S. Belfast (Capt. P. R. Parham, D.S.O.) wearing the flag of Vice-Admiral F. H. G. Dalrymple-Hamilton, C.B., gave valuable support against enemy concentrations.

"H.M.S. Nelson (Capt. A. H. Maxwell-Hyslop) engaged the batteries of Le Havre.

"During an unsuccessful enemy air attack in the western assault area an enemy aircraft was shot down by the U.S.S. Augusta (Capt. E. H. Jones, U.S.N.) wearing the flag of Rear-Admiral Alan Goodrich Kirk, U.S.N.

"Convoys of Allied merchant ships are arriving satisfactorily and the armies continue to be built up with men, stores and equipment.

Husband Sobs In Courtroom As He Tells of Wife Stabbing

VANCOUVER (CP) — Robert Logan, bent double in the witness box, sobbed bitterly for several minutes after he told a Supreme court jury Thursday he did not intend to stab his wife, Laura, whom he met and married through an advertisement in a Vancouver newspaper.

Logan, accused of the murder, Dec. 4, of the woman he had married six weeks previously, was the first witness called by Defence Counsel Tom Hurley.

"Did you stab your wife?" Mr. Hurley asked him.

"Yes," came the reply.

"Did anything happen to you that night?

"Yes." I cut my throat," Logan replied.

Under questioning, Logan said he stayed in bed with the dead woman, but he did not realize what had happened until some time the next afternoon.

"When I came to, I knew I had done something wrong," he said.

He told the jury he did not recall very much of what happened from then on, though he remembered writing something in hospital, but he did not know what it was.

Ontario Woman Describes Torture Atop Hot Stove

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Viola Jamieson, 49, of Flanders, Ont., today told of experiences last Saturday when three robbers wrapped her in a blanket and placed her atop a hot stove.

She is in a hospital here suffering from severe burns on her body, hands and arms as the result of torture inflicted. Flanders is 80 miles east of Fort Frances.

Mrs. Jamieson said she found the three robbers in her home after she had returned from a nearby lake. "Before I knew what was happening," she said, "one of them threw a blanket over my head and said to me: "Don't holler."

"Another man grabbed me and took my two sons out to the roothouse, where previously I had been robbed of $1,300, and locked them up."

KICKED, JUMPED ON HER

Mrs. Jamieson said the men burned her with lighted papers, kicked her, jumped on her stomach, and started to strangle her so she would tell them where more money was hidden.

"When it didn't do them any good, they put me on the hot stove. My back was badly burned. Then they turned me over and the right side of my chest, right arm, and right hand were burned."

"I can't say how long it lasted. It was terrible. Then one of them said he was going to kill me.

"I told them there were some bonds in the house and they said they wanted cash. They still held me on the stove. Then one of them said: 'We'll see how much water you can stand'."

DUG WAY OUT

Mrs. Jamieson said she thought they were going to drown her, but instead they locked her in the root house with her two sons, Arthur, 10, and Harold, 12.

She said the boys found shovels and Arthur dug himself out and ran to town to get help.

Mrs. Jamieson was described by hospital attendants today as in "an improved condition."

Fish-Drying Fire Burns Whole Village

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A woman with an urge to speed up the drying of her fish was blamed today for starting the fire that left most of the Chichagof Island village of Hoonah in ashes and an estimated 500 persons homeless. One native perished.

Deputy U.S. Marshal Walter Hellan said she tried gasoline instead of kerosene to make a brisker flame beneath her stilted home.

The flames destroyed the settlement's stores, church, manse, teacher's quarters and 75 per cent of the residences. Replacement value was estimated unofficially in excess of $350,000.

Nothing Holds Churchill Back

After great persuasion Prime Minister Churchill was restrained from accompanying Allied forces on Invasion day. However, he satisfied his wish one week later by visiting the Allied beachhead on the coast of Normandy. Here he is pictured with Field Marshal Sir Alan Brooke as they approached the coastline in a destroyer.

War Reporters At Farmhouse

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH THE CANADIANS IN FRANCE (CP) — Canadian war correspondents and the Canadian 3rd Division press relations unit now are established in an inconspicuous farmhouse, following the shelling of the chateau which we previously were using.

No one was seriously wounded during the 20-minute concentrated shelling Tuesday.

It was noisy at the chateau and we still don't get much sleep at the farmhouse, with Allied guns pounding and brilliant flares lighting up the night sky.

The farmhouse shudders as though it was alive and we lie in our clothes, with tin hats on our pillows.

Great Climax Nears In Normandy Farmlands

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH BRITISH AND CANADIAN FORCES IN FRANCE (CP)—This campaign is sweeping to its first great climax and big battles, which would bring large armored formations into combat over the Normandy farmlands, may be approaching rapidly.

A deep wedge was driven into German-held territory south of Bayeux by the thrilling dash of an Allied armored formation past Tilly-sur-Seulles and on toward Villers-Bocage, about six miles south of Italy. It has been a vitally important thrust.

This thrust was slowed down as the Germans threw in armor and guns to block it but a salient has been created which, if developed, could outflank Caen from the west.

There has been stern fighting on this battleground south of Bayeux and the enemy could stop it only by drawing troops from distant points and hurling them into battle.

The Germans have been given little rest and artillery hammers them several times day and night while Allied fighters and bombers roar over the area from dawn to dusk.

On no other battlefield have I seen anything like these continuous sweeps of low-flying fighters, which blast with cannon and machinegun fire and bomb anything in the enemy zone that moves.

Praise Co-operation Of B.C. and Alberta

Approving and urging continuance of co-operation between Alberta and B.C., J. Boyd McBride, K.C., and Reg. Rose, two of a group of visiting members of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce attending the Rotary Club Thursday, spoke on development and advantages gained by such co-operation of the two provinces.

Mr. McBride talked of the Alberta-B.C. committee formed as a result of visits exchanged between Chambers of Commerce in the two provinces. If the organization continues permanently, he said, the fruit of its work would become more apparent in later years.

He was encouraged, he said, by the work done in this connection by Premier John Hart and Hon. E. C. Carson, Minister of Mines, Trade and Industry, both of whom where present at the luncheon.

Reg. Rose, executive secretary of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, and president of the Edmonton Rotary Club, outlined the steady development of his city. Advent of the Americans in Edmonton during the construction of the Alaskan highway had changed the stability of the city a little, he said, but it had now settled down again.

He also stressed the importance of the Alaskan highway as defence project, and in bringing about a closer union between B.C. and Alberta.

T. C. Clark, president, Vancouver Board of Trade, praised the co-operation of the two provincial governments as a great thing.

J. V. Johnson, past president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, introduced the speakers, who were thanked by G. Hamilton Harman, president, Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Monthly meeting of the Y.M.C.A. board of directors to be held Monday evening at 6.15 will be a joint meeting with the boys' work committee.

Authority Withheld For War Aid Concert But Show Goes On

Saturday's scheduled concert in Victoria by the Peroni Opera Company of Seattle will be given as planned, but not under the sponsorship of the Aid to Russia Fund, T. Cresswell, Civil Defence Warden, District 5, one of the organizers of the show, said today.

Norman A. Foster, Victoria secretary of the Citizens' War Services Committee, today received the following telegram from P. L. Browne, director of Voluntary War Relief, National War Services:

"In view of decision made by Victoria Branch, Canadian Aid to Russia Fund, refusing to sponsor event, unable to grant authority. Please so advise civil defence unit."

The wire was in response to a query by the committee, Mr. Foster said, as to whether a permit could be issued to District No. 5, Civil Defence, for the proposed concert by the Peroni Opera Company of Seattle, for Russian relief in aid of Sevastopol, to be held in Victoria High School, Saturday evening, in view of the fact the Canadian Aid to Russia Fund had declined to sponsor the event.

"Now," said Capt. Foster, "so far as the Citizens' War Services Committee is concerned, they should not go ahead under the auspices of Russian War Relief." He pointed out such an action, if carried out, would be in contravention of the War Charities Act of 1939. The committee, he said, had been authorized by Ottawa to see the act was enforced.

Mr. Cresswell said the opera company would arive in Victoria Saturday afternoon, and the concert would go on anyway. Only, he said, it will be put on strictly under the sponsorship of the civil defence district and not be connected in any way with the Russian Aid Fund.

Program of the opera company will consist of seven operatic selections, and performers will include Victoria-born Elvin McGinnis, Caroline Schultz, Lloyd Bloom, Saverio Pirolo and Marie O'Connor.

Considerable number of tickets have already been sold, said Mr. Cresswell.

Crockery Supply Restaurant Worry

Some city restaurants, in which cracked crockery has drawn protest from the public on health grounds, have had replacements on order for over a year and are still waiting for delivery, the city health committee was informed today.

Difficulties facing operators were outlined by Thomas Lancaster, city sanitary inspector, as the committee considered complaints referred to it by the City Council. In many cases, Mr. Lancaster said, restaurants have been unable to secure metal trays they need in kitchens.

Consideration was given proposals to establish a by-law calling for T.B. and V.D. examination of food handlers. The question was tabled pending inquiries by Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer, into procedure followed by other cities where such by-laws are operative.

The committee also left in abeyance the Chinese Hospital question, on the understanding a Chinese leader interested in maintenance of the institution would be contacted when he returned from holidays within a month.

COMFORT STATIONS

A proposal to subsidize a comfort station in a Yates Street hotel was declined by the hotel owing to inadequate facilities. Other properties were also considered and ruled out on similar grounds. Part of the city's Yates Street yard will be investigated, along with two other locations for such a convenience.

Suggestion was advanced by Ald. Margaret Christie, chairman, that a system be worked out under which a comfort station could be established for day and night use with caretakers given concessions which would cover their pay.

The committee endorsed a move to enlist the aid of all civic employees, including police, fire and library departments, in a canvass of the city for funds to begin work on a cottage home system for aged here.

Town Topics

Five motorists paid a total of $40 in Saanich court Thursday afternoon on traffic charges.

Tuberculous Veterans' Branch No. 18, Canadian Legion, will meet in the association rooms next Tuesday at 8.

Permits were issued by the city building inspector's department today to C. D. Sweeney for a $3,300 four-room home at 148 Eberts Street, and to C. G. Briggs for a $4,900 five-room dwelling at 2702 Roseberry Avenue.

Government Employees To Get Salary Boosts

Complete reclassification of the B.C. civil service, with salary increases for many of 2,000 employees, was approved by the cabinet today. Provincial Secretary George Pearson announced. Provincial police and Liquor Control Board employees are included.

Salary increases will be retroactive to April 1, which means many government employees will have additional sums included in their next cheques, issued for June at the end of this month.

Premier John Hart, as Minister of Finance, included $500,000 for the reorganization in his estimates at the last session. All this sum, however, will not be used this year.

"We are commencing a new system, based on the scientific valuation of every job in the service," Mr. Pearson said. "This has resulted in a great many persons receiving increases in salary.

"The minister said the new system will have to be given a fair trial. In addition there will be amendments to the Civil Service Act at the next session of the House.

SUBJECT TO ABILITY

The salary increases will be subject to the ability, efficiency and capability of each employee, Mr. Pearson said. They will not necessarily be automatic, but based on annual reports of senior officers of each department.

"It is our intention, as conditions allow, to promote within the service," Mr. Pearson said. "That will require a very thorough system of personnel officers, whose business it will be to keep in touch with all employees."

When employment conditions return to normal, a system of examination for admittance to the civil service will be started.

It will take from seven to nine years for an employee to reach the maximum salary in his or her classification. After that a $5 monthly service bonus, will be given every five years.

Minimum salary in the lowest classification will be $780, which will be increased over seven years to $1,080. Reclassification covers all employees, from deputy ministers down.

Reclassification has been divided into the following groups—administrative, agricultural, clerical, economics and statistics, educational, engineering, executive, forest, investigational and inspectional, skilled labor, unskilled labor, medical and nursing, professional and social assistance.

STABILIZED SERVICE

Idea of reclassification, Mr. Pearson said, is to make a stabilized service, with the duties of every position clearly defined and to establish a fair salary range, with a minimum and maximum for each position.

Today's announcement follows two years of intensive work by a special committee set up by the government. On this committee were Norman Baker, civil service commissioner; J. V. Fisher, assistant deputy minister of finance, and E. W. Griffith, assistant deputy provincial secretary. They contacted every employee, through senior officers, and studied each position. Their work resulted in volumes containing details on each person in the service. In turn this was studied by Mr. Pearson who kept his cabinet colleagues thoroughly informed of the progress.

Staff Transfers In City Schools

Staff transfers and appointments in city schools were announced today by Trustee F. G. Mulliner, chairman of the education committee of the City School Board, as efforts to place personnel in must suitable posts were continued.

By the changes H. S. Hurn, principal of Victoria West, is assigned for one year's duty to Victoria High School to utilize his talents in English and dramatics.

James McKenzie, boys' counsellor and secretary of the Victoria Schools Band, leaves Central Junior High for a year's work as acting principal of Victoria West.

Certain city teachers who have been temporarily on the High School staff as substitutes, return to duty on their own schools, Miss E. G. Clarke going back to George Jay and Miss E. H. Creighton to Burnside.

Miss J. D. Hay, librarian at Victoria High, will resume her duties following a year's leave of absence.

Miss Jessie Gordon, Sir James Douglas, has been assigned for a year to Central Junior High.

Miss Elizabeth Angus, who has held a teaching fellowship for one year following graduation from Normal School, has been appointed to the school staff at a salary of $1,164 a year.

Two of this year's Normal School graduates, who are highly qualified in physical education and music, have been given teaching fellowships at $1,114 a year for next year. They are Miss Dorothea Carrol and Miss Mira Rigby.

In one other change, George A. Brand, popular member of the Victoria High staff, who has been absent on service with the R.C.A.F. as instructor in navigation, returns to his duties at Fernwood Road.

Berries for Victoria

Saanich Fruit Growers' Association, whose members produce the bulk of the strawberries on Vancouver Island, today, said they would do their utmost to supply Victoria public with berries, and dissociated themselves from the published statement of mainland growers, who said they would sell all their berries to the jam manufacturers, H. C. Oldfield announced.

"We have no quarrel with the public, only with the authorities, and are going to try to supply consumers at points as near the city as possible to make it convenient for them," he said.

"We could sell the berries to the manufacturers at considerably less expense, but feel that the public are entitled to a fair supply and Saanich growers will do their best to provide it."

Power Line Fails, Tracing Trouble

Elevators and electric toasters, streetcars and barbers' clippers, and other electrical equipment failed two or three times for short periods in Greater Victoria this morning as B.C. Electric's No. 2 transmission line went out of action.

After some time, said E. N. Horsey, manager of the light and power department, trouble-shooters had localized the trouble to a section of the line between Finlayson Arm and Jordan River and were now patrolling that section looking for the source.

It was not yet known, he said, whether the failure was due to a break or not; but in the meantime Victoria's supply of electricity was being carried in on a single transmission line.

Not all circuits went out, he added, but some failures occurred when adjustments were made at the powerhouse.

Austria Gets Raid; 6-Tonners Pound Boulogne Boat Pens

By GLADWIN HILL

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE (AP)—The Allied aerial offensive against continental targets swept on today after R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. heavy bombers had delivered a heavy high-altitude pre-dusk precision attack Thursday plastering 12,000-pound bombs on Nazi E-boat, R-boat and minesweeper pens at Boulogne.

The R.A.F. had staged a large-scale daylight raid on Le Havre Wednesday, but Thursday's action marked first Canadian participation in a major daylight bombing attack since the Canadian bomber group's formation 18 months ago.

R.A.F. bombers struck at the Nazis' big ammunition dump in Rennes Forest Thursday night.

As the aerial assault in support of the Normandy invasion rolled on this morning, the German radio reported hostile aircraft approaching the Austrian provinces of Carinthia and Styria.

Big British and Canadian four-engine Lancasters, with their fighter escort, hit the French Channel port of Boulogne first at 10.30 p.m. Thursday, just before dusk.

Other British heavy bombers, continuing the attack into the night, hit railway centres at Valenciennes and Lens and a fuel dump at Chatellerault. Fourteen bombers — including three R.C.A.F. craft—were missing from all these operations, while Allied night intruder planes destroyed four enemy aircraft and damaged others over France.

Petty Thieves Busy

Thieves entered three rooms, taking small amounts of cash and clothing, city police were informed today and Thursday afternoon.

F. Goodman, 707½ Yates, said the padlock on the door of his room had been wrenched off and an electric razor and small amount of cash taken.

Lieut. Moore, H.M.C.S. Dockyards, reported a pair of Lees binoculars stolen from a desk drawer in his room.

Entering the suite of Mrs. Ramsden, Athlone Apartments, through an open window, a thief took a small mirror.

FO. Trembath, R.C.A.F., reported a picture projector stolen.

Two coats and a pair of slacks were taken from his car, S. McNeil, R.R.1, told police.

He is navigating a Beaufighter with an R.C.A.F. night fighter squadron. George was a Victoria restaurateur before he joined the air force two and a half years ago. He received his commission as pilot officer in Feb., 1943, was promoted to his present rank early this year. His wife, who makes her home at 980 Heywood Avenue, is at present away from the city.

FO. Bill (Sonny) Walker, R.C.A.F., Victoria athlete who got into the news when he flew blood plasma in a Boston bomber from Italy and parachuted it to earth to save the lives of Marshal Tito's Partisans in Yugoslavia, has been awarded the D.F.C. "Sonny" played senior basketball here for several seasons, was a leading baseball moundsman and also a softballer. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Walker, Blubber Bay.

Sgt. Ted Bowles, R.C.A.F., 11 Hampton Road, who, with Sgt. W. L. (Wilf) Falkner of Cranbrook, figured recently in the destruction of a brace of enemy night fighters. Members of a crew of the Bison Squadron of the R.C.A.F. Bomber Group overseas, they were on their third operational mission and had just bombed Essen when attacked. Falkner, in the rear turret, opened fire. Bowles, who was bomb-aimer in the plane's nose, saw both enemy fighters crash in flames.

FO Ramsay Herbert Milne, 23, whose home is at Metchosin, now serving with the R.C.A.F. overseas. Educated at Shawnigan Lake, Milne enlisted in February, 1941, was commissioned in October, 1942.

2nd Lt. Eric William W. Metcalfe, who gained his certificate June 10 after taking an officer's course at C.A.O.T.C., Brockville, Ont. His wife resides at Craigflower Court.

Maj. R. D. Harvey, 2469 Hazel Street, Victoria lawyer, has been retired from active army service on medical grounds. Maj. Harvey has had long service with the Canadian Scottish Regiment and since the outbreak of the present war has served as judge advocate in various military districts.

He has also held staff appointments with the 5th Canadian Armored Division.

Seven motorists in city court today on parking and traffic charges paid a total of $45 in fines.

'People Have Spoken,' Says Premier Hart

Members of the cabinet today studied in detail the results of voting in Saskatchewan, but generally said they preferred to make no comment.

Premier John Hart said: "The people have spoken and I shall watch with interest the course of the new administration in Saskatchewan."

Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, B.C. head of the Progressive Conservative Party, which was so badly beaten in the election, was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

Former Premier T. D. Pattullo said of the election result: "It is the culmination of a dissatisfaction which has been gathering momentum for a considerable time, but greatly aggravated during the years of depression. How much further the pendulum will swing nobody knows. I still stick to the Liberal Party to best serve the public interests, because I can support neither Toryism nor Socialism. I have faith in the ultimate of commonsense and reason."

A roof fire caused by chimney sparks did slight damage to a house at 1149 Grant Street at 5.55 Thursday. City firemen extinguished the blaze.

Sees Great Changes In Canadian Economy

Canada, with a unique position in relation to postwar world affairs, will demand from its people more ingenuity, more unanimity of purpose, intelligent appraisal, international vision and long-range planning than in almost any other economic area, J. V. Fisher, provincial assistant deputy finance minister told the Lions Club Thursday.

"Look back on this country's past," he said. "It is unique. We have created an east to west economy contrary to the natural and logical north and south trends. "We have produced great surpluses and sold them to the world at large for great profit."

He said Canada's future world trade would be with nations anxious to buy goods but with ruined credits and currencies at rock bottom levels.

"In postwar years we can do much for ourselves by increasing our domestic market," he said. "But let us not forget that the size of the market will still to a great extent, depend on 'marginal consumers,' the specialized producer-for-export."

Mr. Fisher said the assumption that man was actuated mainly by profit was not justified. He scored the lack of objective thinking on "under-consumption" and "over-production."

Credit manipulation plans, he said, have a value in a minor degree, but there was no evidence to warrant the belief that they could possibly work in the absence of planned and managed consumption and therefore that planned and managed consumption was impracticable. He said credit manipulations did have a place in filling the basic needs of the people.

Vacation Schools For Children Planned

Rev. H. W. Kerley of Belmont United Church announced today that the Christian Education Committee of the United Church would again hold vacation schools for children in Victoria, with several schools already planned for the summer, to instruct children in singing, story telling, worship, Bible study, games, handicrafts and woodwork.

Teachers and helpers will receive instructions in child teaching at training school to be held in First United Church on the evenings of June 20, 21 and 22 at 7.30. Those interested in helping with the work are asked to contact Mr. Kerley at 2023 Belmont Avenue. Lectures will be given by Mrs. R. P. Grosland and Mrs. K. Morrow, both of Vancouver.

Victoria Boy Captains 299

"That's Bruce's ship," said Fred M. McGregor, Island manager of the Mutual Life Assurance Co., as he looked at the above photograph taken on D-Day on a beach in France. He pulled a recent letter from his pocket to check the number and said: "Yes, 299; that's the number of the ship we've been sending his mail to." Bruce McGregor, who is a lieutenant in the Canadian Navy, went to England about a year ago after spending considerable time on this coast, following his graduation from an early class at H.M.C.S. Royal Roads. He is in command of the invasion barge. Canadian soldiers are shown above pouring ashore from McGregor's craft. While wading through the water they hold on to the guard lines with one hand to prevent being swept off their feet by the undertow. The soldiers have knocked a hole in the seawall and made a ramp for the tanks to climb up from the beach. Gutted and shell-pocked buildings are evidence of the furious bombardment which paved the way for the troop landings. —R.C.N. Photo by Lieut. G. A. Milne.

Half Levy Assured When Tax Bills Out

By the time all city tax bills have been sent out, half the current levy will have been paid, according to word received from the city assessor-collector's department today.

The 1944 levy is $1,451,328. Collected to date through the medium of prepaids is a total of $672,020, which is $12,724 above the $659,296 received at the corresponding date last year. The total already in is so close to half the levy, the 50 per cent collection appeared assured by the first week in July, when all bills will be out.

Arrears collections, with far less outstanding this year, amount to $48,672, a total $2,594 below the $51,266 collected at the equivalent date last year.

Taxes actually fall due at the beginning of October. On Oct. 3 the first 1 per cent penalty is applied on taxes left unpaid. Additional 1 per cent charges are added Nov. 2 and Nov. 16, with a final 3 per cent being applied Dec. 2.

CAMERA CLUB

Members of the B.C. Civil Service Camera Club at the June meeting at the club's headquarters on Burdett Avenue, saw a program of color transparencies by H. U. Knight. Interesting part of the program was the comparison between the kodachrome process of color transparencies and the dufycolor process which was available to photographers before the war.

Monthly print competition for June was divided into two parts. Under the subject "Trees," first place went to H. G. Cox for his print, "Skyline Personalities." Geo. J. Alexander's "Dogwood in Bloom," was second, and "Woodland Trail," by Mr. Tyzack, was third. In the small print competition for prints not over 4x6 inches, Mrs. E. Burt-Smith's print of a black spaniel, with no title, was first. Second place went to Mrs. P. Birley for "Chris," and Miss Marcia Prior's "Kiska" was third. The subject for next month's competition is "Open."

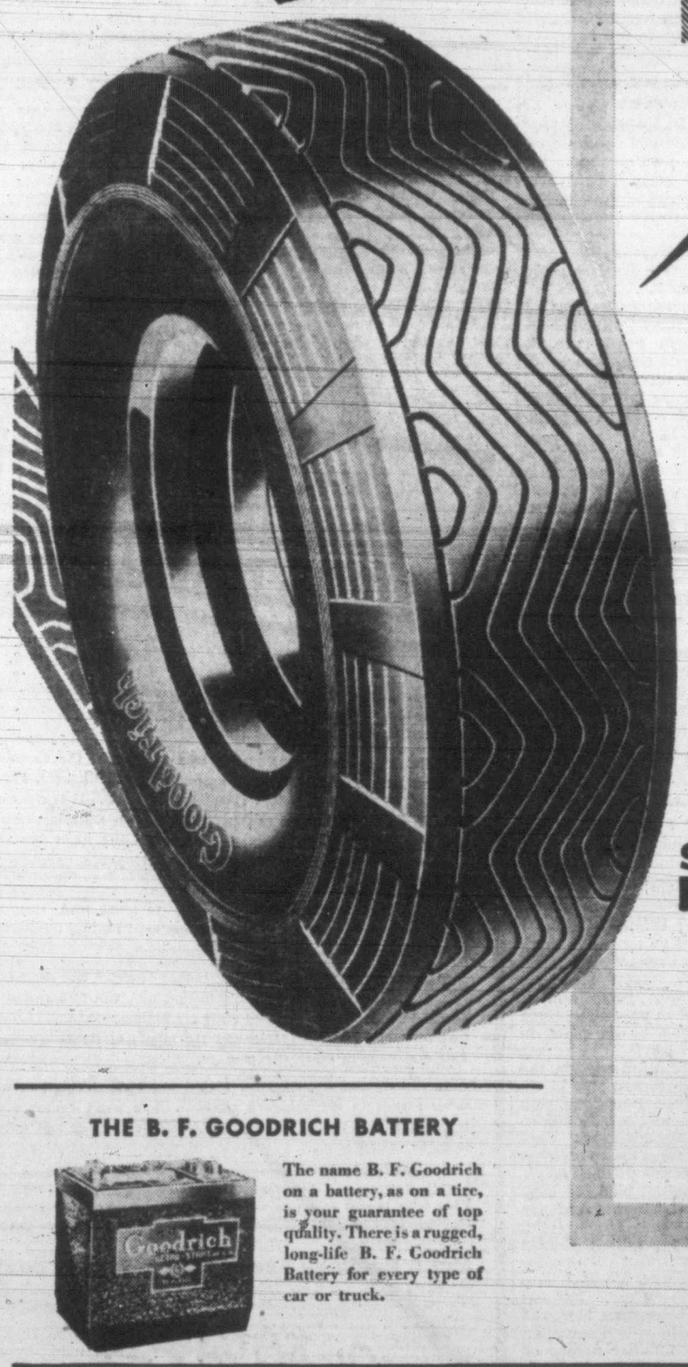
Another reason why PRE-WAR MILEAGE is now available—

HI-FLEX CORD!



B. F. Goodrich tire engineers again drew from their long experience in tire construction to make Pre-War Mileage available in the new B. F. Goodrich Synthetic Rubber Tire.

Knowing that Hi-Flex Cord—previously used only in B. F. Goodrich truck tires—had extra strength and elasticity, they used it to build a stronger, bruise-resisting, cooler-running synthetic rubber tire for passenger cars.

With Hi-Flex Cord and Ply-Weld construction, plus the long-wearing, road-tested Lifesaver Tread, the new B. F. Goodrich Synthetic Rubber Tires for passenger cars are fully capable of giving you the long mileage you enjoyed before the war.

Today, extra tire mileage is as important to your country as it is to you. Help to conserve Canada's vital rubber supply. Drive within legal speed limits, keep your tires properly inflated, and have them inspected regularly by a capable tire service man—your B. F. Goodrich dealer.

BOOKS . . . .

DURANTY EXPLAINS RUSSIA

"U.S.S.R.," the story of Soviet Russia, by Walter Duranty, published by Longmans, Green & Co., Toronto.

HERE is a book on the progress and evolution of the U.S.S.R., from 1917 to 1943. Walter Duranty, who is qualified by experience to interpret the modern Russian people and their history, has written those 26 years of drama in the light of concrete facts. The whole process of Russian national life and political development was not like that of the west. The first thing to know and understand and remember about Russia is that it is utterly different from the western world, and that our standards of comparison cannot be applied to it. This is equally true about the former Tsarist Russia and the modern Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

At the beginning of the book the author explains that the determining factor in Russian history has been the flatness of Russian land which was open to attack. It was exposed and undefended, and therefore, forced in self defence to submit to one strong ruler. Thus Russia was doomed to autocracy from the outset. The country stood or fell in accordance with the strength of its central authority.

In 1917, when the revolution occurred, there were only 10 million industrial workers in the whole country. There was an immense peasant population. Millions of men and women were working on the land who were mentally and physically debased almost to the level of animals. Mr. Duranty states that the question has often been asked why a Marxist revolution should have occurred in Russia, the most backward and agricultural of white nations, whereas Marx himself predicted that it would first come in an advanced industrial state. The author's answer is that the Russian revolution was only apparently, or accidentally, a Marxist revolution. To be quite accurate, it was Marxist because Lenin who rode and to some extent directed its wave was himself a Marxist, and by force of his will and genius was able to guide it along Marxist channels. In reality, it was the revolt of an enslaved mass against the intolerant burden of a corrupt and weakened rule, a revolt more nationalist than Marxist. This is a point of cardinal importance which cannot be stressed too strongly, because it has determined the course of Soviet history.

Those who are not familiar with the development of the Soviet Union through a quarter of a century of war, revolution, counter-revolution, terror and famine, should read "U.S.S.R." "Slowly and gradually Lenin and his followers came to see that the three great fundamentals—home and the family, religion and the church, money and property—were not the obscure creation of some capitalistic demon, but the development, through hundreds and thousands of years, of human habit and practice, of human hope and desire, of human aspiration, of human need. The history of the Soviet Union has been a steady swing away from the early ideas of extreme or 'militant' Communism to more practical and reasonable methods."

HEADS SUCCESSFUL BALTIMORE SYMPHONY

By VERONICA KOMPANEK

Within two years the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra has grown from a fledgling to one of the continent's major musical organizations, and that, say its leaders, challenges a couple of well-aged theories of the music world.

For one thing, Director Reginald Stewart, formerly of Toronto, dismisses the idea that it takes a long time to build a symphony as an "illusion"; for another, Manager Clarence C. Cappel says the day of the wealthy music sponsor is ending.

Before coming to Baltimore as director of the Peabody Institute in 1941, Stewart, internationally known pianist and conductor, had directed Toronto's Promenade Orchestra for seven years. Under his leadership weekly concerts in the Ontario capital grew in popularity and attracted an average attendance of about 5,000.

Both Stewart and Cappel are convinced the future of orchestral music lies in state or municipal support, to which they attribute the Baltimore Symphony's rapid success.

"Music is a lively art," the two men contend, "and it is just as logical for cities to support a symphony orchestra from its tax sources as to support art galleries and museums."

When Stewart, 44-year-old Scottish-born artist who has just completed his 25th year as a conductor and concert pianist, came to Baltimore this city was the only one of its size in the United States without a major orchestra.

Baltimore had an orchestra—had had for 25 years—a purely civic affair supported by a municipal grant, and limited in artistic standard and length of season.

Then Stewart, Cappel and a newly formed municipal board of music took the situation in hand.

Cappel, who had established the National Symphony Orchestra in the midst of the depression, laughed at the skeptic view of such a project in wartime as the acme of temerity.

ORCHESTRA BIG NEED

"We needed an orchestra more than ever before," he said. "There were many strangers within the city gates and if music is good in peacetime, there is no question of its place in dark days of war."

Stewart, given full reign by the municipal board, was able to obtain outstanding musicians both as instructors at Peabody and as members of the orchestra.

His idea was to co-ordinate the city's varied musical activities in an over-all plan for community development. And the idea worked.

Rene le Roy, flutist; Roman Totenberg, violinist; Bruno Labate, oboist; James Mosbach, bassoon; Joseph Pizzo, harpist; Clarence J. Totten, first bass, and other internationally known artists became familiar names on the Baltimore Symphony roster.

Meanwhile, in 1942 the city's grant to the orchestra was increased from $30,000 to $50,000. Baltimore, with Indianapolis now ranks first in the nation in direct appropriations to symphony orchestras.

Your Garden . . . .

Cecil Solly's Garden Notebook

COMPOST

SECRET of turning poor soil into rich, fertile material that is clean and productive is described in this letter received last week.

"So many people have remarked upon the nice, black soil I now have instead of the gravelly-looking, yellow, clay dirt I once had . . . that I thought your listeners and readers might be interested in the way I use my compost heap.

"I make my heap . . . an ordinary compost heap . . . flat except for the lowering in the centre. I use old sod and any other garden material that is not woody. You soak this heap with a liquid mixture made of 2½ gallons of water to one can of lye. Cover over with a layer of soil. In one month the heap should be ready to use and the insects and weed seeds killed. It is really a wonderful help, especially for the city lot that is usually quite small . . . for this heap takes very little space and is ready in only one month!"

This story answers another letter received the same day, which said, "Can you give me any suggestions for making a lot of ground 'gardenable' where the top soil has all been scraped off by a bulldozer. Our ground is nearly all hardpan and seems to grow only bracken fern and wild blackberries."

Answer: When the top soil has been removed from any part of a garden, the sub-soil which is exposed is "dead" as far as growing things is concerned. To get the soil into shape to grow a good crop there next season, it will be necessary to get busy right away.

The best method is to spread over the spot at least three inches of peat moss, leaf mold, rotted manure or compost. This should be spaded in at once, mixing it with the sub-soil.

NEED FERTILIZER

Provided this mixing is done carefully, the soil should be fertile by next year, but it will still be necessary to use fertilizer at that time too.

If the humus materials described are not obtainable in sufficient quantity, another method would be to spade the soil over and loosen it at once and then plant a Green Manure mixture of seed. Use one pound of Winter Vetch and three pounds of Winter Rye, at the rate of four pounds to each 500 square feet.

Scatter this seed on top of the soil and just press it or lightly rake it in. The seed must not be covered more than a quarter inch at the most.

As the crop grows, its roots will penetrate the hard soil and help to lighten it.

In the fall, the green tops of the "Green Manure" will be about 6-12 inches high. Spade it in. Be sure to cover it completely with the soil and leave the ground rough. Don't try to level it until a week or two before seed planting time in 1945.

Anyone with a treasury of unused and well-rotted compost is in luck these days. The compost can be used just like manure, placed on the surface of the garden and spaded in. It can be used between the rows, placing it in a furrow between the newly sprung seedlings, and covering it over with a little soil, or it can be dug in.

Since the proper garden use of much of our house and kitchen waste material can be made to greatly increase the value of fertilizers we buy, it is certainly a worthwhile plan to actually use this so-called "waste." Thus we will be producing bigger and better crops in the garden, knowing at the same time that the soil will be so greatly benefited that in years to come, when flowers return to the garden, they will also be greatly helped by the increased soil fertility.

In planting the tender vegetables such as cucumbers, tomatoes and peppers, some of the compost heap should be placed in the bottom of each hole in which the plants are to be set. It may be fairly coarse for this use; in fact, it is hardly ever necessary to screen compost for the vegetable garden, unless it contains twigs or rocks and these may be raked out easily in transferring the material from the heap to the garden.

More than once have gardeners told me "My garbage collector stopped me last week and asked if we had quit eating at our house because our garbage can was practically empty all the time. Of course tin cans go in the salvage but all the rest goes into our garden."

Actual term "compost" applies to a rich, loose, friable soil preparation which has resulted from the compost heap. It contains humus, richness and "life" that is necessary, in great quantities, to all garden soil that is expected to produce well.

It is much easier to keep a clean garden when you have a compost pile for in it goes all the "green" garden refuse such as weeds, lawn clippings, and other materials that are not "shrubby" and which will rot easily. It may be located in any vacant area in a secluded spot behind shrubs or screened from view by the garage or other building.

Some gardeners dig a hole in the ground for compost, while others prefer to have it above ground. If above ground the sides may be held up by old pieces of lumber or by placing turves or large grass root clumps in such a way as to form a wall.

Most satisfactory size for the compost pile is about six feet by four feet, but it may be formed to any size, of course, to suit the available space.

Into this compost hole or pile, all weeds and lawn clippings should be deposited while they are still soft and green. All waste from the vegetable garden such as corn stalks, pea and bean vines and any part of any vegetable not used for food, should be added. Kitchen waste such as pea pods, corn husks, beet and carrot tops, potato peelings, lettuce and outer cabbage leaves.

Other kitchen waste such as tea leaves, coffee grounds, egg shells and waste bones should be "composted." Note that the floor sweepings from the vacuum cleaner are of great value too.

KEEP CENTRE LOWER

As the "pile" grows in size, the centre should be slightly lowered so that water may be added as often as necessary, to keep it thoroughly wet at all times. A pile that is thoroughly saturated with water will rot much more rapidly and the compost will be much more fertile and of greater value in the garden. All cooking water in which vegetables or eggs have been boiled should be put on the compost. This is a good place for dishwater too.

There is one point that must be carefully observed. That is, that after every amount of any material from garden or house is put into "compost" it must be covered with a small quantity of soil. Any soil will do, provided it is not lumpy. This serves two purposes, prevents any ordors whatever and, of course, flies and in mixing the compost soil a greater quantity of this valuable material is obtained for your garden.

Should it be desired to cause a pile or pit of compost to rot down more rapidly than it should do so naturally, even with the application of sufficient water, it is advisable to sprinkle each layer with some fertilizer.

There are also several kinds of specially prepared materials for use in compost piles now offered for sale at garden supply stores. Five or ten pounds is enough for the average pile. Or use the suggestion given in the first of this article.

Amateur Gardener

By E. L. F.

TOMATO PLANTS, set out within the last few weeks, are growing freely and it entirely depends on the routine care you give them from now on whether you have big crops or not.

As they grow they will need an increased amount of water, unless of course, the weather goes suddenly showery on us. When water is needed give each plant approximately one and a half pints from now on till the end of June, four pints to the middle of July and eights pints from then on. Pour it carefully around the stem, in a depression the depth and diamater of a soup plate, gradually increasing the circle as your plants grow. Don't splash any more than is necessary.

REMOVE SIDE SHOOTS

Remove all side shoots when they reach two to three inches in length. Some gardeners prefer a penknife for this work, others nip out with the good old thumb and finger. Get rid of these shoots right away. Don't leave them lying around the plants or they may invite disease.

Make a practice of tying up your tomato plants once a week. We don't mean that each plant will need tying every time, but some plants will, so give them a weekly going over. Always make a tie immediately above a leaf so the tying material will not slip. First wrap it around the stake; then enclose the stem in a loop large enough to allow for normal expansion. Make a tie right above every second leaf and you will give your tomato plants really good support.

You may have a bit of difficulty with flowers dropping off your plants. In most cases this is due to lack of water. Increase not only the amount you are giving each plant but also enlarge the radius you are watering around each stem.

Hoe between the tomato plants whenever the earth hardens, as it will do pretty often, for all these routine attentions involve much trampling.

Celery is a great moisture lover and if you have plants set out this season, do remember to water them generously at least three nights a week during dry weather. If you don't, the stalks will be bitter and stringy. Every two weeks, from now until late July, give each celery plant one pint of agricultural salt solution (half an ounce in a gallon of water). It has a wonderful effect on growth. Also, at three-week intervals, dust the plants with old soot, if you have some, and they will not be attacked by pests.

FLOWERS

Have you a rosebush that seems reluctant to open its buds? Water it with four pints of a solution prepared by dissolving one ounce of sulphate of ammonia in a gallon of water. In a very short time, roses will open from buds that might otherwise have balled up and decayed.

Remove the faded blooms from your rhododendrons and azaleas. Grip each cluster firmly but carefully at the base, give a sideways twist and it will come off easily. Try not to hurt the young growth below. From that comes the bloom for next year. Loosen the earth as far as the branches stretch, give a good soaking with quarter-strength liquid manure, and mulch with a three-inch layer of leaf mould or very well rotted manure.

LUXTON AND HAPPY VALLEY

Summer flower show and sale of work will be held July 16, it was decided at a meeting of the institute. Mrs. W. Henderson presided. Mrs. D. Flatman, secretary, gave a report on the Vancouver conference. A "five hundred" card party will be held in Luxton Hall, June 21. Proceeds will go towards the Victory Bond. A discussion took place on what could be done to help the Luxton Hall committee.

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR LIQUID FERTILIZING

Liquid fertilizing gives you bigger crops from the same area—and you use less fertilizer because, drought or rain, the nourishment is always carried to the plant roots.

Intensive cropping of your garden robs the soil of the elements required for plant growth. It is necessary to add Nitrogen, Phosphoric Acid, Potash and other elements to the soil. It is common sense to do this from time to time, as the crop is maturing, rather than do it once at the first of the season. And when you add these necessary elements in liquid form, they are immediately available and assimilable by the plants.

The Old Gardener Fertilizer is a complete plant food, specially made for liquid fertilizing and for intermittent feeding during the growing period.

A $1 package of The Old Gardener (added to water, one level teaspoonful to a quart, it is ready for instant use) will feed an entire garden THREE TIMES, provided there are not more than 36 twenty-foot rows or equivalent. It makes 168 quarts of liquid fertilizer. Full directions in every size package.

Once you try The Old Gardener Liquid way of fertilizing you will never return to old-fashioned methods. You won't believe such results are possible till you try Old Gardener yourself and watch it make things grow.

When planting your seeds for late crops of vegetables, try fertilizing the drills in seed beds with Old Gardener, immediately before sowing.

Atlas Presenting New Bogart Film

"Passage to Marseille," the new Warner Bros.' picture starring Humphrey Bogart in a timely story of daring and courage, comes to the Atlas Theatre today. As a fighting French journalist who has been railroaded to Devil's Island, Humphrey Bogart leads four of his fellow-prisoners to freedom and the chance to give their lives in their country's death-struggle against Hitler.

Michael Curtiz, director of the record - breaking "Casablanca," again lends directorial guidance to a brilliant supporting cast including Claude Rains, Michele Morgan, Philip Dorn, Sydney Greenstreet, Helmut Dantine, Peter Lorre and George Tobias.

No Dull Moment In Formby Picture

There is not a dull moment in the new George Formby picture now at the Dominion Theatre.

Recently voted Britain's No. 1 comedian, he is in fine form in this excellent comedy in which he is seen as George Gullip, a would-be detective who endeavors to run a gang of counterfeiters to earth.

The title is "Trouble Brewing," and George becomes involved in countless scrapes before he is finally able to achieve his ambition.

OAK BAY-PLAZA THEATRE

Two of Hollywood Boulevard's familiar figures participated in a carnival scene for "Spider Woman," latest in Universal's Sherlock Holmes series currently playing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres.

Lockard Martin, seven-foot-six-inch giant, is known to theatre-goers as the uniformed doorman at Grauman's Chinese. The contrast in human altitude is Angelo Rossitto, for years the newsboy at Hollywood Boulevard and Wilcox, who is only two feet, 11 inches.

Basil Rathbone and Nigel Bruce are co-starred.

'Life With Father' Here Saturday

The Elegant Eighties—that haughty decade just preceding the Gay Nineties—is the period of Oscar Serlin's production of Clarence Day's comedy "Life With Father," which will be presented at the Royal Theatre Saturday, featuring Harry Bannister and Mary Loane in the leading roles. This engagement will mark the presentation of the record-breaking comedy in this city.

The father of the title was Clarence Shepard Day, actual father of the author, a prominent Wall Street broker and three times governor of the New York Stock Exchange.

The play was fashioned by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse from Clarence Day's inimitable stories of life in his boyhood home.

CADET THEATRE

Striking a new note in screen entertainment, RKO Radio's "Government Girl," currently at the Cadet Theatre, tells the absorbing story of the civilians fighting the battle of production in the nation's capital. Olivia de Havilland and Sonny Tufts are starred.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Film fans have more than one surprise in store for them when they see Paramount's hilarious comedy, "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek," which is currently at the Capitol Theatre, with Eddie Bracken and Betty Hutton in the starring roles. The picture is full of amazing situations and story twists, all of them more laugh-provoking than any movie comedy offering in recent months.

RIO THEATRE

Jinx Falkenburg, beautiful star of Columbia's "Two Senoritas from Chicago," now at the Rio Theatre, recently went on a tour for the Red Cross. But this time the tour didn't consist of using the Falkenburg glamour to boost the Red Cross. Instead, Jinx, her mother and two brothers, put on tennis exhibitions wherever they went and from all accounts, the tennis matches were highly successful.

60,000,000 Ft. Lumber To Australia This Year

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver Province said in a newspage story that British Columbia lumber dealers estimate 60,000,000 feet of lumber from this province will be shipped this year to Australia. Volume, it is said, is controlled chiefly by available shipping space and priorities.

A delegation of Australian lumbermen met here Thursday in connection with Australia's wartime lumber requirements.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

ONE SECRET OF HOME COMFORT

To everybody, home means comfort—a place to get the most out of life. Yet, as a Johns-Manville engineer recently remarked, not everyone realizes how much our comfort depends on temperature! There is no real comfort in a house of uneven temperatures. Moreover, such houses are invariably expensive to heat. Today, in thousands of homes, Johns-Manville scientific Home Insulation has actually paid for itself by lowering the cost of heating.

You see, J-M Home Insulation saves you up to 30 per cent on fuel—which is particularly important these days when the government is urging everyone to conserve fuel. And it also ensures a much cooler home in summer.

Why not write today for a free copy of the J-M book on Home Insulation entitled: "Comfort That Pays for Itself." You'll find it fascinating reading. Write to Johns-Manville, 199 Bay St., Toronto.

One Woman's Day...

By NANCY HODGES

"GOD'S COUNTRY"

ON MY WAY home from the east recently, I got into conversation with a fellow-traveler, a young Canadian pilot just arriving home on a well-earned leave after a long bout of operational flights.

Only 23, that boy had seen service in 57 different stations—a "sort of Heinz collection," as he expressed it, with a grin.

He had joined the R.A.F. at the beginning of the war, and subsequently transferred to the R.C.A.F. And his service had ranged from Singapore and India to north Africa and the Middle East.

Of all those places, he liked Palestine best, he said, somewhat to my surprise. As he was not a Jew I wondered why, but he gave no other reason except that he "just liked the country."

WAR AND TRAVEL

AS HE WAS evidently so taken with Palestine, I asked if he would care to live there.

"Oh, no, Canada's the only place for me. This is God's country, but you have to go away to realize it!" was his answer, delivered with evident feeling.

Samuel Johnson, that great philosopher, once wrote: "The use of traveling is to regulate imagination by reality, and instead of thinking how things may be, to see them as they are."

And, as I have said before, one of the few good things to come out of this war is the opportunity it has furnished our young people of seeing countries and meeting people whom they would never have seen under normal circumstances.

CAPRI—A PARADISE

THIS IS BORNE out in an interesting letter I have just been privileged to read.

It was written to Mrs. Frank C. Paterson, Craigdarroch, by her niece, Pte. Grace E. Anderson, who is secretary to the senior chaplain of the 12th Air Force Command.

Pte. Anderson, an American girl, enlisted in May, 1943, in the W.A.C. Division of the U.S. Army. In October, she with other members of her company, was flown to Algiers, Africa, and in February of this year was transferred to Naples, Italy.

Writing from Italy on May 8, she starts: "I just recently returned from a short stay in Paradise—this is, the Isle of Capri. It still seems it was all a dream. It is a little world apart from everything else."

FAMOUS BLUE GROTTO

THE FAMOUS BLUE GROTTO impressed her as one of the most beautiful sights she had ever seen.

In this world-famous cave, known to the Romans, the sunlight passes through a great opening in the rocks under the level of the sea, and all the light rays, except those of blue, are absorbed by the water.

As a result, the water, walls and ceiling are illuminated by an eerie, blue phosphorescent light. Even the jellyfish look bizarre with the blue light coming up through them, revealing only their outline.

LIKE A FAIRYLAND

REFERENCE IS ALSO made to a visit to an old castle, built by the Roman Emperor Tiberius Caesar, on a huge cliff at one end of the three-mile long island, and seen by moonlight.

After writing that "The boy who wrote the song about the Isle of Capri didn't exaggerate its loveliness one bit," Miss Anderson goes on:

"I know of nothing with which it can compare unless perhaps a huge fairyland. Every day I understand better the fairy tales, the folklore and other stories I heard and read as a child. They all have their beginnings in truth in countries such as these."

VESUVIUS IN ERUPTION

ON ANOTHER OCCASION this young W.A.C. visited the Vesuvius area at the time the volcano was in eruption.

"It was a beautiful but frightening sight. At night the gases showed up in bright and varied colors, with a huge fiery cloud above the burning cone," she writes.

Visiting some of the towns being buried by the relentless lava flow, she goes on: "The rumbling and thundering from the cone made one wonder if it were safe to stay."

EASTER SERVICES

SUCH A SETTING and such an atmosphere give an added significance to what she writes about the official side of her army life as secretary to a chaplain:

"We had two services Easter morning. The first was a Communion service. We expected 50, but 500 came.

"For the latter service, we planned for about 300, but more than 1,000 servicemen and women attended. The same was true of the evening service.

"It was something like what happened in the Bible story of the two loaves and a few fishes," she concludes.

So who will deny that our young Canadians who are spared to return home will come back with an enlightened viewpoint; a broader understanding of foreign places and people?

And, perhaps, an intensified affection for things Canadian, coupled with a sharpened expectancy of all it may mean to them in the days ahead.

CHICAGO (AP)—The market for wheat and rye futures was erratic today. Price trends changed frequently as traders marked time pending action of Senate and House conferees on an amendment to the Price Control Extension Bill which is aimed at forcing processors of farm commodities to pay parity prices to producers.

Trade in the wheat pit was largely speculative with buying faltering on the advances and support developing during the recessions. The rye market had a nervous undertone with the only selling of any consequence coming from local operations.

Stillwell's Planes Kill 1,200 Japs

CHUNGKING (AP) — More than 1,200 Japanese soldiers were killed in the area of besieged Changsha in Hunan province by three days of air operations, Lt.-Gen. Joseph W. Stillwell's headquarters announced today.

U.S. bombers with fighter escort, launched this widespread air attack on the advancing Japanese Tuesday, the communique said, by killing 200 Japanese and damaging installations there.

On the subsequent two days, the planes strafed river craft and troopships in the Siang River area, and in one attack P-40s struck savagely at a column of 2,000 Japanese on the road from Penglipu to Linyuang, killing an estimated 500 soldiers.

The P-40s Thursday, striking north of Changsha hit the village of Ikiawan and attacked Chuchow killing an estimated 140 enemy troops.

At the same time planes of Maj.-Gen. Claire L. Chennault's Chinese - American composite wing struck at installations along the Yellow River in Honan province, and a large flight of Liberator bombers blasted stores, depots and warehouses in the Canton area "with satisfactory results."

Manitoba Eases Old Age Pension Rules

WINNIPEG (CP) — Attorney-General J. O. McLenaghen Thursday night announced the Manitoba government had passed an order-in-council providing increases in the ceiling of income of old age and blind pensioners and relaxing of residence qualifications. He said the order was passed following consultation with federal authorities.

Single old age pensioners now may earn $425 annually instead of $365, and married persons may earn $850 instead of $730, he said. The totals include pensions.

"Well bowled, sir!"

2 Today, when it's cricket to work in a war job, folks start off their busy days with that famous nourishment in Grape-Nuts Flakes as well as Grape-Nuts.

3 No wonder they work smartly! Grape-Nuts Flakes provide carbohydrates and proteins, useful quantities of phosphorus and iron and other food essentials.
